A PUBLIC BATH-HOUSE

Councilman Royal Wants Baths Near North Common

At the next meeting of the common council, to be held on Friday night instead of tonight, Councilman Garret G. Royal of ward two will introduce an order providing for the taking of the triangular lot of land bounded by Cross, Fletcher and Willie streets now occupied by a polling booth and the headquarters of the Butler Veteran Phremon, and erecting thereon a combination lavatory, swimming pool and shower bath.

Councilman Royal argues that such a place would be greatly appreciated by residents of that section of the city and that it could be erected there at a comparatively small expenditure.

COLUMBUS DAY PLANS

Division Marshals of the Big Parade Named Today

The arrangements for the local celebration of Columbus day are progressing finely, and the fine weather of the past few days has instilled high hopes into the moving spirits in the arrangements that this very essential feature will be satisfactory.

The busiest man in town is Chief Marshal Delaney who is here, there and everywhere in an endeavor to get the various details attended to. Today he announced the marshals of the divisions, three in number. The appointments as division marshals give general satisfaction, for they are men whose experience in this particular kind of work fits them admirably for their respective posts. Capt. Philip McNulty will head the military division, Councilman Wm. J. Garman, who has for several years been marshal for the Holy Name society in St. Peter's parish, will head the second division, which will include the Holy Name and other societies. Lieut. Thomas J. O'Donnell, a popular knight, will be marshal of the Knights of Columbus division.

With Chief Marshal Delaney will be Lieut. Bernard F. McArdle, as chief of staff, Lieut. Harold Patten, adjutant, and ex-Alderman David Gerow as chief aid, with a big corps of aids.

Tonight Lowell council K. of C. will hold a special meeting and if one may judge from the enthusiasm among the knights the meeting will be very large.

The reports of the different officers attended, Rev. W. George Mullin, show that the guard is in good shape.

Another important question at the guard meeting was the election of men to several offices made vacant by the resignation of first lieutenant, David Laferrere. The result of the election was as follows: George Gaudette, first lieutenant; Alfred Grenier, second lieutenant; A. St. Onge, first sergeant; Omer Grenier, second sergeant; Joseph Grenier, corporal.

The reports of the different officers attended, Rev. W. George Mullin, show that the guard is in good shape.

ing area one mile wide and five miles long. Within this square the troop-laden vessels appear secure from any danger except the ever-present one of a violent storm.

Once safely arrived on the Tripoli coast, it is expected that with a favorable sea the troops can be landed in two days. Plans for this have been long making.

CABINET COUNCIL DECIDES TO SEIZE ALL ITALIAN STEAMERS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 10.—At a cabinet council today it was decided to close all Italian industrial, financial and scholarly establishments in Turkey and to seize Italian steamers.

ITALY'S PROPOSAL

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—It is learned in diplomatic circles today that Italy is willing to indemnify Turkey to the extent of about $12,000,000 for Tripoli but it is a question whether she is still willing to recognize Turkish suzerainty over Tripoli in any form. Popular feeling and desire to avoid future sources of conflict may have changed the attitude that Italy held before the war began.

ITALIAN TROOPS

WERE LANDED AT TORBRUK, TRIPOLI, TODAY

ROME, Oct. 10.—The first Italian expeditionary force which left Naples on Oct. 15 was landed at Torbruk, Tripoli, today. It consisted of infantry, artillery and a company of engineers.

TURKEY'S REQUEST

SEEMS TO BE FAVORED BY THE POWERS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Chronicle at Constantinople telegraphs that the latest Turkish note to the powers was so conciliatory in tone that Germany has decided with the other governments to renew her approach at Rome for an understanding. Some of the answers received by the Porte from the powers last night are favorable to Turkey's request.

Reports from Benghazi that two Italian cruisers were destroyed and from Derna that two Italian torpedo boat destroyers had been blown up by mines are in circulation but have not been confirmed.

clal condition and that its membership is increasing every day.

Stores Decorated

The stores in the principal streets of the city are taking on a very brilliant aspect, as a large number of them are being richly decorated with bunting and flags, getting ready for the Columbus day observance. The decorators having so much work on hand were forced to start their work several days ahead of the date in order to have all orders fulfilled at the proper time, and the result is that the city has a gay appearance.

In connection with the celebration of Columbus day, practically all of the local mills have decided to close their plants for the day, and the Lowell Machine shop will close tomorrow night for the rest of the week.

Greek Military Companies

The Greek military companies of Lowell will participate in the civic parade on Columbus day and will form on the South common shortly before 10 o'clock with the other societies. An invitation was extended to the Greek societies generally, the principal one of which is the Hellenic union whose members number in the thousands. The Hellenic union has never paraded and has not as yet secured its banners and regalia. For that reason the union after gracefully acknowledging the invitation stated that it would be necessary for the union to decline the invitation to parade but assured the Knights of Columbus that all Greeks will do honor to the memory of the great discoverer while they would be represented in line by their military companies.

COLUMBUS DAY

The Sun will observe Columbus day, Thursday, Oct. 12, by suspending all editions.

On account of the holiday, advertisers are requested to send in their copy for Friday's paper not later than Wednesday this week.

SWEPT BY FLOOD

Many Persons Drowned and Property Loss of $5,000,000 Reported

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 10.—With telephone and telegraph service today crippled and more than 300 miles of railroad out of commission only meagre reports are being received from the flood-swept district of southwestern Colorado and northwest New Mexico comprising an area approximating 100 by 15 miles. There are rumors of heavy loss of life but the verified death list so far is comparatively small. Near Blanco, Colo., a Mexican family of seven are reported drowned. From various other points come reports of persons being swept away in the flood.

From Alamosa comes a report that 20 Indians at the agency of the Navajos were lost in the waters. All the buildings at the agency, erected by the government at a cost of $200,000, are reported to have been destroyed. The total property loss is estimated at approximately $5,000,000, a large part of which falls on the Denver & Rio Grande road. Practically the entire narrow gauge system of this road, now out of commission and train service to various other points cannot be resumed, it is said, under sixty days.

Residents of towns in the flood district face a serious situation from food shortage.

Confirmation of the entire destruction of the hamlet of Arboles has been received. All buildings in the village including the railroad depot together with a string of box cars that were on a siding were swept into the San Juan river.

No loss of life is reported there. Late reports indicate that the flood waters are subsiding.

A MONSTER CHIMNEY

To be Erected by the Bigelow Carpet Company

The public buildings department has started to remodel Hose 7 firehouse in Central street and will change the present dormitory on the second floor into eight separate sleeping rooms. The steam plant and bathrooms will be somewhat changed as a result. The work will cost $2000.

Another Big Chimney
The Bigelow Carpet company today took out a permit to build a chimney in its yard in Market street. The chimney will be nine feet in diameter and 200 feet high. The architect is John A. Stevens and the builders are the Alphonse Gustos Construction company. The chimney will cost $7500. The Bigelow Carpet company will also erect a $5000 addition of one story and a new roof on one of its buildings in Market street. This will be done by the New England Cement Construction company.

That New Beam House
Although the excavation for the new beam house of the American Hide & Leather company has been going on for some time the permit to build was not taken out until today. It provides for a building of reinforced concrete, two stories in height, in Perry street along the railroad tracks, 450 feet long and from 75 to 100 feet in depth. It will be heated by steam, have two elevators enclosed in reinforced concrete and will be fireproof throughout. The estimated cost of the work is $110,000. The Abnathay Construction company will do the work.

FUNDS TRANSFERRED TO REPRESENTATIVE OF SYNDICATE OF CREDITORS

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Eighteen years' litigation over the Bay State Gas Co. of Delaware, which at one time controlled the gas business of Boston, ended today with the discharge of the receiver, George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia, and the transfer of the funds of the company to Homer Albers, representing a syndicate of creditors.

Mr. Pepper was appointed receiver June 8, 1903. He conducted numerous hearings and awarded and distributed the greater part of the proceeds arising out of the transfer of the property into new hands.

The fees of the receivers and the attorneys involved in the case reached several hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. Pepper filed his final account in the United States court here today and Judge Putnam then released him.

Mr. T. L. Cottle, formerly of this city, has removed to Manchester, N. H., where he will make his home. Mr. Cottle is just returning from the western states, where he has resided at Mexico, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Cal., Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash.

CHINESE ARRESTED

They Are Charged With Inciting Revolution

HANKOW, China, Oct. 10.—Twenty-eight Chinese revolutionaries have been arrested at Wu Chang, capital of the province of Hupah, and four of the number were beheaded in front of the vice yamen today. The arrests and executions followed the discovery of a revolutionary plot in the Russian concession here. A bomb was exploded, which upon a search revealed a factory for the manufacture of explosives and an attack on Wu Chang.

The authorities fear the soldiers may be disaffected. Chinese gunboats are patrolling the harbor. A message from Chun-King says that the leaders in the movement in protest against the government's plan of building railroads with foreign capital are protecting the missions in the district where rebels are operating.

C. N. BLISS IS DEAD

Was Long a Leader in the Republican Party

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. Cornelius work for James M. Bliss, of New York, for years a prominent figure in National Republican politics. The late Bliss, who died at his home in New York, was a member of the city council, a member of the city board of education, and a member of the city board of health. He was also a member of the city board of fire commissioners and the city board of police commissioners. He was a member of the city board of health and the city board of fire commissioners. He was a member of the city board of health and the city board of fire commissioners.

The end was not widely unexpected. Bliss had been ill for some time. He was 78 years old, having been born in Fall River in 1833. Mrs. Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, Jr. and Miss L. P. Bliss, his daughter, were at the bedside. No arrangements for the funeral had been made at a late hour last night. They will be announced today.

New England Born
Cornelius Newton Bliss was born in Fall River, Jan. 26, 1833, the son of Asahel and Irene Borden (Gather) Bliss. He was educated there and in New Orleans, whither he went with his mother and stepfather, Edward S. Keep, at the age of 11. He was early introduced to business in Mr. Keep's counting room and was thoroughly grounded in trade practice, experience he carried forward. He was in 1855 Mr. Bliss came to Boston to ship but eventually declined on much the same reasons. He was for many years on the republican city committee of New York, but resided in 1880, saying he had seen too much of party office-holders.

Led in Harrison Campaign
In 1887 Mr. Bliss was chairman of the New York republican state committee, and led it in the next year in the victorious Harrison campaign. He was the champion of the national committee during that campaign.

Mr. Bliss was offered the treasury portfolio by President Arthur, and declined it because he felt that he could not neglect his enormous business in New York. President McKinley, in 1897, however, overcame his objections and he took up the work of the department of the interior. He was an ardent protectionist and fully in accord with Mr. McKinley's views on the tariff.

His Lavish Entertainment
He lived quietly in Washington, largely from personal taste, but also out of regard for Mrs. Bliss' health, which had become precarious. When he did appear as a host, however, it was in the most magnificent style. One of his dinners, given to about 50 guests, at the Waldorf-Astoria, was a masterpiece of Washington society. He and his wife started a new order of things in entertainment at the federal capital. The decorations alone cost $500, and the dinner itself was even more expensive.

The annual report of Secretary Bliss in 1898 showed a masterly grasp of the situation. During the year he had made a thorough investigation of the resources of Alaska, revolutionized the relations with the Chippewas and other Indian tribes, studied the landed reserves of the government, led the way to future acquisition of desert lands, pointing out excellent possibilities and necessities to greater efficiency of the pension bureau, especially a legislative amendment in behalf of widows, whose husbands died while in service.

He left the cabinet in 1899 after the war with Spain, largely on account of ill health. He was again questioned and said: "You can't galvanize ancient history or ancient fiction. I have had still for two years and I do not see any profit in saying anything now. What has passed is of the past, and that's an end of it."

Fiduciary Service
He served in many corporations as director and always with a fearless and painstaking care, that brooked no opposition to his views. In 1902 he was selected by President Roosevelt as treasurer of the national fund for the relief of earthquake sufferers in the West Indian islands, he was governor and treasurer of the New York board of directors of the Pan-American congress, member of the New England Society of New York, on the executive committee of the National Civic Federation, member of the American Geographical society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History, National Academy of Design, vice president and director of the Fourth National bank, trustee of the American Surety company, director in the Central Trust Co., and vice president of the New York chamber of commerce.

THE BLACK HAND

Sends Warning to a Chicago Family.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Theresa Snow, 11-year-old daughter of Bernard W. Snow, famous expert and one of the republican leaders of the city council, is being guarded from kidnappers at St. Joseph's college in Dubuque, Ia., following the receipt of a Black Hand letter demanding $200 from the 7th ward alderman and threatening to seize the girl, his only child.

Detectives working under the personal direction of Chief of Police McManus are examining the Snow home at 6423 Dorset avenue. The threatening letter is as follows:

"Alderman Snow: You must pay us $200 by midnight Friday night or your family will suffer for it. We may get your little girl, too. We mean business. Throw the money from the Emerson & L. train between 64th and 65th streets.

"Black Hand."

This threat was received at Mr. Snow's office in the People's Gas building yesterday. Mr. Snow is the father of the girl who is being guarded.

Alderman Snow left for Europe Sept. 15 and is still abroad, ignorant of the threat against his family.

GAVE UP HIS LIFE

Driver Attempted to Save Others

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Fred N. Smith, of 35 Dudley street, Roxbury, driver of a delivery wagon for C. M. Stronach of Howard avenue, Roxbury, lost his life in a vain effort to stop his horse, which ran away in Brookline about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The horse, a brindle horse, Smith kept out along one of the shafts to reach the animal's head, and was thrown to the ground at the corner of Jones and Walter avenues. The wheels of the heavy delivery wagon passed over his body, and he lived only 15 minutes after the accident.

Two others narrowly escaped, a young lad named George Kenney of Walter avenue, who was riding with Smith, and Neal Connors, a well-known amateur baseball player, who at the risk of his life stopped the runaway some distance from the scene of the accident. The animal had turned into a crowded tenement house section, where scores of children were at play in the streets.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

91 NEW MEMBERS WERE REPORTED LAST NIGHT

An enthusiastic meeting of the "Campaigners for 1000 Members" for the Y. M. C. A. was held last night at the association's rooms in Ward street, and the first reports of the committees were very gratifying. A dainty supper was served, and a very interesting address was delivered by Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of St. Paul's church.

The evening opened with a supper served to the 26 committees and after the meal, President Bowen rapped to order and called upon Mr. Hook for a few words on "Campaign Work." The speaker was brief but his remarks were very interesting.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The meeting of Division 5, A. O. H., was held last night, President Daniel P. Kelly occupying the chair. Three new members were admitted and five propositions were received. The receipts of the meeting were the largest of any meeting since early spring, which goes to show that the members are getting interested again as the cool evenings come along. The financial secretary submitted his quarterly report, which showed the finances and membership to be in splendid form, and it was well received by the members.

The speaker, talk committee reported that State President John H. Dillon and County President James J. Harold would address the members on Wednesday evening, October 18. With local speakers of high character and vocal talent, an evening's entertainment to be remembered is assured.

Rebekah Lodge

Centerville Rebekah lodge has appointed the following committee to make arrangements to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the lodge on October 12: Mrs. Lillian Perry, chairman; Mrs. Grace Harnden, Mrs. Ella Farnes, Mrs. Lillian Miller, Mrs. Clara Dell Smith, Miss Beale Worrall, Mrs. Mary Parker, Mrs. Alice Thompson, Mrs. Jennie Leach, Mrs. Anne Stevens, Mrs. Jane Beal, Mrs. Mabel Sargent, Miss Ina Caborn, Miss Beulah, Miss Irene Kittredge, Miss Janette Johnson, Mrs. Alice A. Salisbury and suite of Lawrence, and the officers of Highland Union and Evening Star lodges of Lowell and Wrentham lodge at Billetta, Mass., have been invited.

Spanish War Vets

The regular meeting of Adolbert Ames camp, Spanish War Veterans, was held last night. There was a large attendance and considerable business of importance was transacted during the evening. General orders from department No. 6 were read.

It was announced that the annual rifle match for the Spanish War Veterans of the state will be held at Wakefield Oct. 21, at the range of the Bay State Rifle association. The Lowell team will include Adit, Gen. Pearson, Capt. James N. Gray, Capt. Louis Hutton, Lieut. Thomas Doyle and Sergeant John Doyle. This team won third place last year and is out after the first place in this match. The committee on soldiers' graves reported favorably. Lieut. Doyle volunteered to draw out of the different cemeteries of the city, marking the positions of the graves of the veterans. It was announced that the banquet of the Sixth Massachusetts S. W. V. association would be held in Boston Oct. 25.

THE CITY COUNCIL MET

And Took Action on Death of the City Messenger.

Both branches of the city council met in special session at city hall, last evening to take action on the death of the City Messenger Joseph E. Patton.

The city messenger's death in the afternoon's chamber was immediately deplored and it was a large hour.

Aside from the drawing of jurors all regular business was suspended. The common council which was to have a regular meeting tonight voted to discontinue with tonight's meeting out of respect to the deceased city messenger and to meet Friday evening instead.

Both branches met shortly before 9 o'clock and orders for a joint convention were adopted, both branches then assembling in the afternoon's chamber.

Chairman Gallacher presided. The roll call showed 25 members of the two branches present.

The chairman spoke of the purpose of the joint convention. Alderman Barrett suggested that the members of the city government and employees assemble at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon and go to the home of the late city messenger in a body, and remain there during the services. This was embodied in a motion, which was seconded by Alderman Connors.

Alderman Chapman offered an amendment to the effect that the mayor, the chairman of the board of aldermen, president of the common council, with two members of the board and three of the lower attended the services officiating. The motion, as amended, was passed.

An order was introduced closing the offices at city hall, after 2 o'clock Wednesday. It was adopted. The chairman named Alderman Tompkins and City and Councilmen Chapman, Folton and Royal as the committee to attend the funeral officiating.

The committee on resolutions was then named, as follows: Alderman Gallacher and Robinson, and Councilmen J. J. Riggs, Connors and E. A. Connors.

It was also voted to send a suitable floral tribute to the home of the deceased.

The joint convention dissolved at 9:30 o'clock.

Before adjourning the common council voted to disburse with the regular meeting and meet next Friday evening.

Jurors for the session of the supreme judicial court were drawn by Alderman Joslin, as follows: Bartholomew F. Hurley, 172 High street, physician; Thomas E. Leamon, 51 3/4 Washington street, liquor dealer; Patrick F. Devine, 62 Park street, news carrier; and William W. Dalton, 433 Dutton street, machinist.

WIT

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Finding a thief in the front room of her lodging house at 462 Shawmut avenue yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Edith M. Allen, the landlady, neither screamed nor fainted, but after engaging him in conversation found an opportunity to slip out and telephone for the police.

At the station house the man gave his name as Archie McDonald, 15 years old, and said that he had just finished a year and a half at the Concord reformatory for larceny. He told a story of having learned money to a roomer at this house and having called there to collect it. The key with which he opened the door he said had been lent him by this same person. The charge against him is larceny of articles belonging to the lodger in the room, valued at $2.95.

Mrs. Workhard (winding alarm clock)—"I always set the alarm for 4 o'clock on Monday morning, so I can make an early start with my washing and get through before dark."

Anty Drudge—"Nonsense. Just you sleep three hours later, and then send to the grocer's for some Fels-Naptha soap, and do your washing the Fels-Naptha way. Your wash will be on the line before noon, cleaner and whiter than ever before."

In India the women still go down to the river banks and wash clothes by rubbing them over stones.

They are unprogressive, we say. But they are no farther behind the times than the American women who still boil clothes and hard-rub them on a washboard. The women of India don't weaken their clothes by boiling, at least.

The truly modern way of washing is the Fels-Naptha way. No boiling to weaken the fibre; no hard-rubbing to wear and tear. Work saved, time saved, fuel saved; clothes cleaner.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

Man Was Charged With Receiving Stolen Property

Antonio Tsimbides was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with receiving stolen property. It is alleged that he received $17 in money, a valuable stone and a ring valued at $100, the property of George Elipoulos, who was represented by Attorney J. J. Golden of Woburn and denied his guilt, but after Attorney Donahue, who appeared for the government, brought forth testimony the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him sentenced to four months in jail.

According to the testimony offered there was a banquet in a coffee house in Market street on the night of August 23d and one of those present at the affair was George Elipoulos. Owing to the intense heat and the smoke which filled the room he decided to remove his coat and in doing so forgot that he had placed his pocketbook in one of the racks for the coat. Subsequently thinking of the pocketbook which contained about $17 in money, a share on a Greek bank valued at $100 and a precious stone, he searched his pockets, but the pocketbook had disappeared.

He reported the matter to the proprietor of the place but the guilty party could not be found. An investigation on the part of the police resulted in the arrest of Nicholas J. Zachares, who was charged with the larceny of the pocketbook, was found guilty and sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction at the sitting of the superior court.

It appears that when Zachares was sentenced he claimed that he found the money and took it to his room and went down to the coffee house the next morning with the intention of returning it but got "cold feet" and returning it to his room and hid it. Later in the day, he said, he collected the room and found Antonio Tsimbides with the pocketbook inspecting it. He grabbed the pocketbook and claimed it and then the two men said that if they would keep quiet he would share the spoils with them, which it was alleged he did.

Tsimbides was committed by the police but Tsimbides is still at large. Tsimbides said that he saw the pocketbook but that he did not take it, neither did he accept any money as a bribe in order to keep him from speaking.

Messrs. Donahue and Golden argued at considerable length and during the course of Mr. Golden's argument he made a statement relative to the veracity of one of the witnesses for the government, whereupon Mr. Donahue accused Mr. Golden of having offered to settle the case for $50, but Mr. Golden denied the allegation. Then followed a wordy battle which necessitated the interference of the court. All but the lie was passed during the wordy battle.

She Throw a Glass

There was a red hot battle in Prince street last Friday night and as a result Rose Hill, otherwise known as Rose Vigan, was brought before the court on a complaint charging her with assault and battery on Marianne Bejanger. Rose admitted that she threw a glass at the complainant's brother, but that her aim was bad and it struck the complainant. Just for that she had to pay $8.

Found Not Guilty

Joseph Audette was charged with having assaulted Alfred Dufault, aged 12 years, but after the court heard several of the witnesses he found the defendant not guilty and ordered him to be discharged. The government swore in four witnesses, aged three, nine, eleven and twelve years respectively, and the complainant testified to having been in a wrestling match with another boy in the rear of 113 Clever street, which is in the rear of the house of the defendant. Further testimony showed that the complainant and another boy were having a fight when Audette separated them. Dufault's parents went to the police station where a warrant was sworn out, but the court after hearing two of the witnesses ordered the man to be discharged.

Case Continued

Joseph T. Coughlin was charged with breaking and entering and larceny, it being alleged that he stole a suit of clothes valued at $15 and a jacket of the value of $12.50, the property of James A. Reardon, of Arkwright street. In the afternoon of the day for the defendant and waived the reading of the complaint and asked for a continuance until Saturday, which was granted.

Assault and Battery

Joseph Phinard was charged with drunkenness and assault and battery on his wife, Agnes. He asked for a continuance until tomorrow and the request was granted.

Drunken Offenders

Patrick J. O'Brien was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory. John Galvin was fined $5, there was one first offender, who was fined $2, and two simple drunks, who were released before the opening of the court.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

BUSINESS IS DULL

Local Automobile Business at Standstill

DEALERS ARE WAITING FOR NEW MODELS

It is Expected That the Automobile Business as Regards Sales and Repairs Will Be Much Brighter in a Fortnight and the Sales Next Year Will Be Far in Advance of Those of This Season

There is little or nothing doing in the line of the sales or repairs of automobiles at the present time and many of the managers of garages have "laid off" a number of their men. This doesn't really mean a depression in business for this is the time of the year when business is slack, for it is just between the end of the 1911 season and the opening of the season of 1912. Some of the local dealers have new models on exhibition, but they are few and far between for the demand for new models has been so strong that the larger cities are being supplied first, and cities the size of Lowell have to take their chances on receiving new machines.

The output of cars this year will be much larger than it was last year and for that reason the factories have been over-run with business and have been unable to make early deliveries. All of the local dealers who have not received their full quota of 1912 models are anxiously awaiting their arrival for as soon as the cars arrive it will mean a renewal of activity in business.

The 32d annual state convention of the Massachusetts State Firemen's association will be held at Lawrence on October 18, 19 and 20. The convention was held in Lowell last year and received much credit upon the local firemen. Lawrence intended to surpass the Lowell men, but according to reports the Spicket City is "shy" of funds and will have a difficulty in order to make both ends meet. One of the features at the convention will be the demonstration of what is known as a tractor, which is a self-propelled piece of mechanism consisting of an engine and two wheels which is attached to the front of any heavy piece of apparatus, such as ladder trucks and water towers. It consists of a single wheel motor device attached to the front wheels of the ordinary horse-drawn apparatus and obliterates the horses, makes much faster time and is less expensive. The tractor apparatus is used in many cities and according to reports it has been a success.

Chief Hosmer of the local fire department, who intends to attend the convention, is very anxious to see the machine and if it appears favorable to him in action he will recommend that the committee on fire department purchase one or more of them.

Automobiles are built for both speed and comfort, speed on the race tracks and comfort on the roads and in the streets and this should be remembered. With the automobile editor of The Sun was passing through Moody street yesterday he saw no less than 50 cars go by. All, with probably a few exceptions, were traveling at a high rate of speed, a speed which endangered the lives of many people.

Moody street is one of the main thoroughfares in and out of the city and owing to the smooth paving on the street the man at the wheel is wont to open the throttle wide and use the muffle cut-out, much to the annoyance and danger of the people who are crossing the streets.

Moody street is, as a general rule, filled with children and there are many cross streets, hence the drivers of the majority of machines drive through the street at a rate of speed which might be called reckless, and it is little less than a miracle that many people have not been killed. It would be well for the police to use some precaution which would result in the arrest of a few of the offenders as an example to others.

Ed. H. Mercher, who has the reputation of "going there and getting back" and who never meets with an accident, is hustling every day, but is anxious for more business for now and then there is a lapse. He has made many bookings for tours and weddings and during the past week has had many people re-tours and it is unnecessary to say that those who have taken rides with "Ed" were perfectly satisfied with his service and will be constant customers.

Many Lowell people went to Boston to inspect the 1912 models of the Buick car. While the Boston dealers have received all of the new models, Lowell has not as yet had a chance to get on show at the Lowell Automobile Corporation. It is expected that the local dealers will get their quota next week or the week after and then Manager Fred Emerson and Salesman Thomas B. Huxtable and Milo Hale will be kept busy making contracts.

THREE MORE TRUCKS

The American Express company has just placed its fifth repeat order with the American Locomotive company for Alco trucks. This order calls for three more 3½ ton trucks. With these three trucks the American Express company has 11 Alcos in its service. Twenty-five of these are used in New York city and three in Chicago. The trucks just ordered will be placed in the New York service.

FOUR MILLION TIRES

Will Be Used On Automobiles in 1912

In the neighborhood of four million pneumatic tires will be required to shoe the automobiles running in America during the year 1912. This estimate of the nation's impending tire needs is made by J. M. Gilbert, and as an indication that he really believes the coming year will develop some wonderful sales records arrangements have just been completed whereby immense factories will be run throughout the winter months on full summer schedule.

Never before in the history of tire making has such a move been regarded as a necessity. Winter is generally supposed to be the "off season" in the tire business and this will be the first instance on record where rubber plants of this magnitude have maintained the same working forces from September to April that were employed during the remainder of the year. Each of the company's factories will also be increased in both extent and equipment so that the combined output for 1912 will be far in excess of this year's record.

Although naturally a conservative, Mr. Gilbert is extremely optimistic over the immediate outlook and is of the opinion that the coming year will see the automobile industry taking the longest strides in its history.

"It is difficult for an outsider to fully appreciate the wonderful development of every branch of this industry," he says. "Even we who are connected with it in one way or another feel occasionally to understand the remarkable growth in popularity of the automobile. It has come to be such a widely recognized private and public utility that there appears to be no limit to its possibilities. And from the standpoint of the tire manufacturer constant activity is necessary to keep pace with this marvelous development."

DEATHS

CHASE.—The many friends of Mrs. Albert E. Chase will be pained to learn of her death, which occurred last evening at the home of her son, Harvey J. Chase, 1009 Central street.

Mrs. Chase was always held in high esteem by all her friends and acquaintances and was respected by all who knew her and her death will be a shock to her many friends. She was a devoted member of St. Peter's parish, being a member of the Married Women's sodality, also president of the Daughters of Veterans, vice president of the Women's Relief Corps, 55, and a member of the Ladies of Charity of St. John's hospital.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides

HOUSE WAS BLOWN UP

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Four persons are believed to have perished at a suburb early today as the result of a Black Hand outrage when a big frame tenement, housing forty persons, was blown up and, taking fire, was consumed. The house was conducted by Edward Kofinsky, who, with his family and a large number of boarders, was asleep when a heavy charge of dynamite was exploded at one corner of the building. The walls fell out and men were blown from their beds. A woman, with two children in her arms, stood for a moment at a window and then fell back into the flames. A similar scene was enacted when a man attempted to escape from one of the upper stories. Kofinsky recently received a demand from the Black Hand for $1500 but refused to place the money in the spot designated.

The funeral arrangements and burial were under the direction of Undertaker John A. Finnegan.

FUNERAL NOTICE

LYNCH.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Lynch will take place Wednesday morning from her late home, 64 Pine Hill street, at 8:30 o'clock. Funeral mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertaker Geo. B. McKenna in charge.

THE BLUE BRUSHES

Through a typographical error, the advertisement of the C. B. Coburn company relative to its blue brushes, which appeared on the last page of last evening's edition of The Sun, did not explain correctly. It should have read: "Blue brushes, for your furnace or boiler brush. These are fine hog bristles brushes, with 4-12 foot wire handles." A blue brush is very useful and handy thing to have about the house, especially at this season of the year when the heating plant is being made ready for the deadening of winter's chilly blasts. The blue brushes sold by the C. B. Coburn Co. are manufactured and are made in three sizes. The prices of the Coburn blue brushes are: 50c, 55c, and 60c, and are good bargains.

FUNERALS

BROWN.—The funeral of James Brown took place yesterday afternoon from the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, at 2 o'clock, and was largely attended. The bearers were Daniel Burke, Michael Burke, Richard Fitzgerald and George Moore. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. W. George Mullin read the committal prayer.

SWENTZER.—The funeral of Marshall P. Swentzer was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his residence, 22 Linn street. The services were conducted by Rev. Asa Reed Dills, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. Misses Elizabeth and Minnie Woodward sang several appropriate selections.

The burial took place in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

TYNAN.—All that was mortal of the late Miss Elizabeth Tynan was laid to rest this morning in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the family.

The funeral took place from the chapel of Undertaker Finnegan, 173 East Merrimack street. At the church of the Immaculate Conception at 9 o'clock a full mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Mr. Charles E. Smith rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was sung by Miss Margaret Knowles, and after the elevation "O Meritum Patris" was sung by Mr. Charles E. Smith. The words of the "Libera" were sustained by Mrs. Hugh Walker, and as the remains were being borne from the church the choir rendered "De Profundis." The services at the church were attended by a large number of friends, including several of the Sisters of Charity connected with St. John's hospital.

The bearers were Messrs. Thomas Holmes, William Cassidy, Patrick Daly and Hugh McQuade. The funeral cortege wended its way to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the prayers for the departed were read by Rev. Lawrence P. Thibault, O. M. I., pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I.

MERRIMACK.—The many friends of Mrs. Mary McShane, aged 71 years, will be pained to hear of her death which occurred this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Boyle, 160 M. THE NEW CHARTER McNAMARA TRIAL LOWELL HIGH WON

Mr. Ouellette Objects to the 37 Wheeled Municipal Auto Truck

Arlington Defeated by a Score of 12 to 0

Mr. Clovis Ouellette, who was one of the speakers at the legislative hearing on the charter, when interviewed by a Sun reporter in regard to the new charter, made the following statement:

In discussing the new charter, one meets a certain line of argumentation which reveals on the part of otherwise intelligent people an ignorance of the nature of municipal government worthy of contemplation.

The past long reign of practical politics seems to have roused into the mind of a certain class of voters the conviction that a municipal corporation is not a business concern established to provide certain commodities as streets, sewers, water, police and fire protection, education, etc., but that it is a treasure-trove to be fought over by different political parties, races and creeds or by different sets of good fellows. Thus we hear a great deal as to how this, that, and the other race will fare under the proposed form of charter. This attitude is evident with reference to voting away money for the observance of certain holidays commemorating the anniversary of special celebrities of the divers groups represented at city hall.

It strikes the average citizen that, worthy as were all these great and good men during their lifetime, their claim on the public treasury should, by this time, be irretrievably restricted, and that judging by their unselfish devotion to public good, when living, if they now should have a voice in the matter, they would peremptorily turn down the bare suggestion of such rake-off.

Besides, the French, the Irish or the Greek questions and all other questions outside of the American questions are being discussed and settled in the countries whence came those races. And it seems to the man of average intelligence and fairness that all those amongst us who are more concerned in the good government of this city than in the countries whence they came, should support the proposed charter.

If the committee of sixty representing all races and interests, agreed almost unanimously on the proposed charter, there is ample ground to expect that an intelligent electorate such as that of Lowell, will do likewise to its own profit and glory.

On that score, the attitude of an eminent ecclesiastic of Boston on the race question is worthy of imitation: the criterion of a man's fitness for office is neither his race nor his religion but his qualifications for the duties to be performed. The aim of the new charter is the selection of such men to manage the city's affairs: it is hard for all of us to elect nearly forty men, half of whom we do not know.

The municipal corporation differs but little from a private corporation in its raison-d'être and functions. Experience has taught that the latter is better managed by few men than by many. Why not take advantage of this fact in our public affairs? The old municipal auto-truck with its thirty-seven wheels set at different

Could Not Proceed Today Because of Special Election

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 10.—Waiting for what promises to be one of the most momentous and protracted struggles in the history of criminal law, Judge, Mayor and attorneys in the McNamara case had a brief respite today. A state-wide special election constitutional amendment stopped legal machinery that is designed to show whether either John J. McNamara, international secretary of the bridge and structural iron workers' union, or his brother, James H. McNamara, is guilty of murder in connection with the explosion and fire which a year and nine days ago wrecked the Los Angeles Times plant and cost 21 lives.

For the details of 19 of these the McNamara case, see the special edition of the Sun, Oct. 9.

M. E. CONFERENCE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 10.—(Transmitted by wire) The M. E. conference of the Bible as a system of the unique and subtle problems of modern life, despite the differences of Scriptural interpretations, resulted from varying kinds of "Bible criticism" and multiple types of critics, the fundamental of the M. E. conference today began the second week of its discussions.

"The church and modern life" was the assigned topic. It was treated under three parts at this morning's session. Attention of the church to the needs of the modern life by Rev. S. D. Church, general superintendent of the Methodist church in Canada; "Function of the church in the life of the community" by Sir George Smith of Trinity, England; and "Inter-denominational co-operation" by S. W. Williams of a Toronto lawyer. Rev. W. W. Williams of the Methodist church of Australia presided.

Satisfaction was expressed generally by the delegates today that although the so-called provocative term "higher

WILL GET $22,000

Wolgast Insists on That Guarantee

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A. Wolgast, the champion lightweight of the world, and Matt Wells, the English champion, will meet in a 10-round bout here October 28. Announcement today that the bout had been arranged, followed by the bout being called off because of an insufficient guarantee for Wolgast, was remade last night by Geo. McDonald, Wells' manager.

McDonald said that Wolgast has been guaranteed $22,000, to be placed in his hand before the fight, and an agreement was signed yesterday for the men to meet, weighing in at 133 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the fight.

The bout will be staged at the Beach Palace Athletic club at Coney Island, McDonald himself is promoting the match.

In addition to his guarantee, the world's champion will receive 40 per cent. of the gate receipts and a like percentage will go to Wells. McDonald added that the large sums were made possible by a sale of moving picture rights for $25,000. Wells, he said, would receive $10,000 guarantee, in addition to the percentage.

JUDGE DEWEY SUES

Gov. Foss is One of the Defendants

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Henry S. Dewey, formerly judge in the Suffolk municipal court, filed suits against Gov. Foss and 23 others yesterday in the municipal court. Lawyers who read the declarations in the suits say that they are of a very unusual nature. Those named besides Gov. Foss are Sec. of State Langley, Atty. Gen. Swift, Dist. Atty. Pelletier, Mayor Fitzgerald, Corporation Counsel Hanson, Clerk Manning of the superior criminal court, Clerk Frederick of the superior court, Joseph Walker, Alton T. Treadway, Sheriff Seaver, Chairman Hollis R. Bailey of the board of bar examiners, Gardner E. Cooper, Fred P. Fish, superintendent of public buildings, Ezra B. Thayer, David A. Ellis, Norman H. White and Elmer Stevens. The suits are for $100 each as damages for what Dewey claims are an unlawful and fraudulent taking of the proceedings at trials in June, 1909, in the action between Brig. Gen. Dewey and others pending in the superior court.

GIANTS' CATCHER UPON WHOM MUCH OF TEAM'S SUCCESS DEPENDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—"Big Chief" Meyers, the Indian catcher of the Giants, is regarded by some as the pivotal player in the coming world's series, so far as the Giants' defense is concerned. When the Gotham club was in Chicago recently various critics suggested that much depends on whether the "chief" keeps his head. Undoubtedly that is very true, but it is also true of every player on both teams. Meyers will have himself keyed up for the big series the same as the others, and if he gets "rattled" many baseball experts here will be greatly surprised.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The New York Sun, now the organ of the interests represented by J. Pierpont Morgan, is indulging its penchant for ridicule on Governor Foss. The Sun of late seems to have lost whatever sense of fairness it displayed in the palmy days of Charles A. Dana.

A Meriden, Conn., man is suing his former sweetheart for $12.53 spent upon ice cream, candy, suppers, trolley rides, buggy rides and other similar expenses incurred in his effort to win the girl's heart. He failed and wants to be recompensed for all he spent upon the girl. Let us hope he will not be able to "con" the court into believing him anything but a stingy "jay" and a poor loser. Nevertheless, it is just as well for a girl not to accept a young man's hospitality and entertainment if she cannot or will not accept himself.

Governor Woodrow Wilson appears now to be the strongest presidential possibility as candidate on the democratic side. Speaker Clark's stock has gone down since the defeat of reciprocity, because he was unfortunately among the number who voiced the false alarm concerning annexation that so stirred the Canadian patriots that they voted against their own interests in order to defeat annexation. Governor Wilson at the recent convention in his own state prevented an endorsement of his candidacy for the nomination, a little matter that shows his good judgment. He appealed to the convention to leave the future of Wilson to the democrats of New Jersey in the spring primaries. He will then get a popular endorsement such as the convention could not give.

STREETS IN A BAD WAY

Some of the streets of our city are in very bad condition as a result of the summer's wear. Perhaps the worst off are those on which the automobile traffic was greatest. The large auto truck is a great road destroyer. Some of the big motor trucks have solid wheels with anti-skid cross bars that dig into the ordinary road. As a result of this and other less severe wear, High street, Gorham street, Central street and many others are in very bad condition. If the holes are not filled before the winter they will prove very annoying if not actually dangerous. Some of the asphalt streets are also breaking into holes and require attention. The one street that is wearing best of all in the city is Pleasant street which was laid with the Warren Brothers' tar macadam some ten years ago, and does not at present show a single hole or break in the surface, despite the fact that the autoists made it their favorite route while passing in that direction.

THE DEFECTION OF WHITNEY

Henry M. Whitney had always very set views on the tariff and reciprocity, but we do not believe he would have hoped to the republican party had he not come under the silent influence of Senator Crane. This is an indication that Crane is getting busy. He is trying to pull the props from under the democratic opportunity, but this somersault will not cause any stampede to the republican camp. Mr. Whitney was boosted as a candidate for governor some years ago on account of his advanced stand on the question of reciprocity. Had his policy been followed at that time by the government at Washington reciprocity might now be a reality. Mr. Whitney says he cannot stand for the "slashing" tariff policy favored by the democrats as indicated by the three bills passed by congress in the recent session, but if Mr. Whitney has arrived at the point where he cannot approve a democratic tariff, he certainly belongs with the republican party, and the democrats do not want him. But in all probability Mr. Whitney has not stated all his reasons for joining the party of the trusts. The democratic party may miss his contributions perhaps, but the loss of his vote and his influence will not defeat Foss.

THE RUSH FOR THE EVENING SCHOOLS

The evening school sessions opened last night with the largest enrollment in the history of the city. The rush for the industrial school was unprecedented and, strange to say, most of all the female applicants wanted to learn some branch of dressmaking. The number was astounding, and Principal Dooley will be unable to accommodate the throng as he would wish. He has planned to divide them into classes of plain sewing, shirt waists, skirts and so on and give them as much time as possible, although he fears that it will be beyond his power to give some of the classes more than one night a week.

The registration at the evening high school is quite satisfactory, as it shows an advance over last year. The industrial school does not seem to have interfered with any of the other evening schools except in the single branch of manual training at the high school.

The evening textile school, soon to open, will afford opportunities for advancement in different lines, and it doubtless also will be well patronized. Now all this is highly gratifying, and it bespeaks a desire to advance on the part of the young people who spend their evenings in study that will enable them to rise. The simple fact that a boy or girl has graduated from the evening high school is proof of the possession of a fair education in the English branches. That a girl has graduated in the shirtwaist class at the industrial school will testify to her specific skill in a certain line and should be the means of enabling her to get a position in which she can apply that ability. So it is in every branch taught in the industrial school, the evening drawing school and the evening textile school. The youth of our city should appreciate these splendid opportunities provided by the city and the state. It is not many years since no instruction of the kind was available in this city. The young people of today may not fully appreciate what is being done for their benefit, and how very much better they are provided for than were their fathers in this matter of educational opportunities.

The question arises whether they will make the best possible use of the evening schools by laboring so as to make them the stepping stone to something higher. We are encouraged to believe, however, that our young people do appreciate what is offered them and that their diligence in study will prove that the expenditure for the evening schools of all kinds is one that will bring good results.

AN OPERATION FOR REPUBLICAN VOTERS

SEEN AND HEARD

All up for Columbus day. It is a day that every American whether native or foreign-born should celebrate.

The passing of City Messenger Patten removed from public life a popular, courteous and painstaking official. "Joe" was accomplishing to all.

Yesterday gave us a belated breath of the Indian summer which threatened to pass us this winter.

Have you read the new charter yet? It is not sure you read it before you vote on it. Don't vote with your eyes closed.

The South common and the garden surrounding St. Peter's parochial residence present a pleasing spectacle to the eye these days with their carpets of purest green, canopied over with the variegated hues of the autumn leaves.

HORSE, DOG AND MAN

The horse and the dog had tamed a man and fastened him to a fence.

Said the horse to the dog: "For the life of me, I don't see a bit of sense in letting him have the thumbs that grow at the sides of his hands, do you?"

And the dog looked solemn and shook his head and said: "I'm a goat if I do."

The poor man groaned and tried to get loose, and sadly he begged them: "Stay."

You will rob me of things for which I have use, by cutting my thumbs away!

You will spoil my looks, you will cause me pain! Ah, why would you treat me so?"

As I am, God made me, and He knows best! O masters, pray let me go!"

The dog laughed out, and the horse replied: "Oh, the cutting won't hurt you, see?"

We'll have a hot war to clap right on you, you did in your docking of me!"

God gave you your thumbs and all, but still, the Creator, you know, may fall!

To do the artistic thing, as He did in furnishing me with a tail!"

So they bound the man and cut off his thumbs, and were deaf to his piteous cries:

And they seized the stumps and they viewed their work through happy and dazzled eyes:

"How art he appears," the horse exclaimed, "since his awkward thumbs are gone!"

For the life of me I cannot see why the Lord ever put them on!"

"Still it seems to me," the dog replied, "that there's something else to be seen."

His ears look rather long to me, and how do they look to you?"

The man cried out: "Oh, spare my ears! God fashioned them as you see."

And if you apply your knife to them you'll surely disfigure me!"

"But you didn't disfigure me, you know," the dog decisively said.

"When you bound me fast and trimmed my ears down close to my head."

So they let him mean and they let him groan, while they crooned his ears away.

And they praised his looks when they let him up, and proud indeed were they!

But that was years and years ago, in an enlightened age!

Such things are ended now, you know! We've reached a higher stage!

The ears and thumbs God gave to man are his to keep and wear.

And the cruel horse and dog look on and never appear to care!

OF INTEREST TO FIREMEN

Salem News: Salem firemen are much interested in a device that was recently tried out in New York city and that proved a great success. The device is a simple one and it seems strange that someone did not think of it before this late day. The tremendous force of the stream from the nozzle of the hose creates a suction which is utilized through a garden hose, thus bringing fresh air to as many as three men to a single stream. This air is breathed through simple appliances to the mouth and nose. This beats the old helmet idea all to pieces, as it is a success, which the helmet method never was.

PANAMA CANAL SCRAP HEAP

Brooklyn Times: When the French gave up work on the Panama canal they left to go into the scrap heap what was then worth millions of dollars, as it stood, in engines, cars, machinery, etc. Although it became government property many years afterward, the United States has used over a million dollars worth, has sold over $207,000 worth, and just accepted a bid of $245,000 for the balance, to be removed at the bidder's expense. Thanks, Monsieur.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Providence Bulletin: If anything could make Mr. Frothingham's chances hopeless it would be the republican platform. The democratic platform is open to criticism on some points, but the tariff it strikes a note as conspicuously right as the republican note is wrong. This is not the year to defend standpatism or advocate the kind of "downward revision" which will touch no one's pocketbook. It was especially futile for Massachusetts republicans to endorse the president's veto of the woolen bill, a measure which probably half the voters of the party approved. To talk about such a revision of the tariff as the democrats are willing to undertake as "disastrous" is tantamount to saying that the business of a great people is to put the party on the side of reaction and alienate thousands whom the high cost of living has affected.

DIVORCE IS SOUGHT

Trouble Was Caused by "Cream Pie"

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Patience to determine and mutually agree before marriage what "cream pie" really is, was the casual belief, according to Matilda Madeline McLeod, daughter of Chief Bailiff David J. McCreaney of the Chicago municipal court, which has wrecked her romance and resulted in pending divorce proceedings between her and her husband, Neil Mordack McLeod of Quincy.

Violent and inflammatory charges have been brought by both in the Suffolk superior court. Charges were first filed by the husband under the date of May 17, 1911, and later dismissed by him Sept. 29 last, after the wife had filed her own charges under date of Sept. 8.

According to Mrs. McLeod, who is a young woman of 23, when she came from Chicago in 1906 as representative of the Multigraph Sales company at an exhibit at Horticultural hall she was introduced to McLeod, who is eight years her senior, by a mutual friend.

Mrs. McLeod admits the two fell so violently in love with each other that three days after the meeting she wore as an engagement token the diamond ring McLeod had placed on her finger, having already broken her engagement to a young man in the west.

For two years McLeod carried on an arduous courtship, twice going to Chicago where his fiancée had returned, to see her and then marrying her at Chicago Nov. 25, 1908, he brought her back to live at various places in Boston and at Quincy as his wife.

"For four weeks after we were married all was love and honey," said Mrs. McLeod yesterday, "and then our first big trouble started."

"One night as I was preparing to receive a number of my guests, at supper, the dispute came over cream pie.

In the west we make our cream pie something like a custard, so when Mr. McLeod said we had cream pie on the table, I said, 'Why, no, that's cream cake.'"

"He contradicted me and maintained it was cream pie, but I stuck to it that it was cream cake."

"Finally Mr. McLeod said, 'By — I'm being driven crazy with all your woman's talk,' and he said, 'I won't eat any of your old pies, anyway.'"

"I told him just what I thought of him, and said, 'If I married the man to whom I was engaged before I was to you, I would have been riding in autos now instead of being kept by you in poverty.'"

"I packed up and went home to father in Chicago, staying three months before returning to my husband in Boston."

WOMAN ARRESTED

SHE IS CHARGED WITH BEING A SHOPLIFTER

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Meeting a middle-aged woman on Washington street yesterday whom she remembered having had arrested a year ago for shoplifting, Miss Edith Thompson, a department store detective, followed the woman into one of the big department stores on that street and placed her under arrest.

When the woman, who gave the name of Mrs. Mary L. Burbank, was searched at police headquarters goods valued at $50 were found on her in addition to $50 worth which the detective had seen her take from the store where she was arrested. An officer noticed Mrs. Burbank was trying to conceal a small brass check in her glove.

The check was for a small traveling bag which she had had checked in still another store, which contained various articles that brought the total up to $155. Marks showed the goods had been taken from four stores.

The police said that the woman, who is about 35 years old, is proprietor of a small store in Worcester. About a year ago, it is alleged, she was arrested in Boston for shoplifting and paid a fine of $100.

HATTIE LE BLANC

ACTED AS BRIDE MAID FOR HER SISTER

With Hattie Le Blanc serving as bride maid and those about making information that she herself was to be a bride, too, ere long, Lillian Le Blanc, sister of the girl brought into the line of light through the Glover tragedy at Waltham, became the wife of Walter Sampson of West Ararat, Cape Breton, yesterday morning.

The ceremony was performed in the little Catholic church by Hattie's faithful friend at the trial, the Rev. Fr. Redcliffe, P. P.

Sampson first met Lillian Le Blanc during the East Cambridge inquest her sister underwent, explaining to her the scope of the testimony for prosecution and defense, as she knew little English. Following her return to Cape Breton, the bridegroom of yesterday left impelled to leave his home in Somerville and follow her there, taking up his abode at Petit de Grat, a picturesque fishing village, the home of his childhood and but seven miles from West Ararat.

Friendship ripened into love, and now that marriage has followed friends of the young couple are remarking that a prosperous young man of West Ararat is paying Hattie every attention and the belief obtains an engagement announcement may be made shortly.

IF YOUR LIVER IS WRONG YOU ARE WRONG ALL OVER

A torpid, inactive liver goes hand in hand with constipation and is a chronic condition, one requiring a systematic, well-directed effort to overcome effectually and establish conditions of health and perfect body drainage.

Bloodline Liver Pills contain the elements needed to increase liver activity and muscular action, so accurately to the sluggish liver and bowels, restoring them to perfect action. They are composed of great vegetable agents, for the stomach, liver and gastric secretions, mucous membrane, circulation and bowels, and always give best results—they are Nature's own laxative.

Thousands of satisfied and grateful people have written us about the great benefit they have received from these pills. Here is one:—

KILLED HERSELF

Woman Cut Her Throat With a Razor

CONCORD, Oct. 10.—Giving her husband an excuse so that his surveillance of her would be relaxed, Mrs. Charles O'Neil, 35 years old, residing at 7 Bradford street in the Concord Junction section, killed herself late yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat with a razor.

For the past three days Mrs. O'Neil had shown signs of acute melancholy, causing her husband to remain home in order to prevent the woman carrying out expressed designs upon her life.

His vigilance yesterday was a little relaxed through the wife informing him she felt much better and he allowed her to enter one of the rooms unaccompanied. When he passed into the apartment a few minutes later, he lay dead on the floor in a pool of blood, her right hand still clasping the razor. Medical Examiner Walcott viewed the body. Mrs. O'Neil leaves two little girls, 3 and 5 years of age.

Health Means Happiness

Few Understand Nature of Their Illness.

"To be happy you must be in good health," said one of the specialists who are here in Lowell, for the purpose of introducing the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita" yesterday. "Yet," continued he, "there are hundreds of people in towns the size of Lowell, who do not live, but simply exist, and are not happy on account of ill health. Leading the life of excitement that most people lead, there is little wonder that modern plague, nervous debility, has crept even more in its grasp. Few understand the nature of nervous debility. They just don't know what is wrong with them. Unmindful of results, many go carelessly along never taking time to realize just how serious their condition may be."

Chief among the symptoms of debility are: nervousness, sleeplessness, stomach troubles, imperfect digestion, poor circulation, cold feet, headache, backache, listlessness and despondency.

"It is only during the past few years that there has been any apparent awakening to a realization that some means for fighting this dreaded disease must be found, but the effects of that awakening are felt today."

"The reports from those who have taken this new tonic, 'Tona Vita,' have proven that this remedy cannot only be relieved, but can be positively cured."

"During the past few days," continued the specialist, "we have hundreds of people come to us for the sole purpose of telling us how happy they are since they have regained their health through the use of this new tonic."

One man said: "I have come a considerable distance out of my way to tell you how pleasant I now find life, since I have gotten back my former health and strength."

"I had stomach trouble for over ten years caused by fermentation or gas. I would have a bad taste in my mouth almost immediately after eating anything. My heart would palpitate. I would be short of breath. Have dizzy spells, and was growing very impatient. I was in a general run down condition and was growing worse daily. About half of the time I could not work."

"When I came in here a few days ago," continued he, "I got a bottle of this 'Tona Vita' on the advice of a neighbor, but I doubted very much if it would do me any good. Since then I have taken not quite two bottles, and I feel an entirely different man. I am now able to work regularly and not feel played out when night comes. I seem to always have a little reserve energy left. I venture to say that I spent over a thousand dollars in the last ten years for different doctors and medicines, trying to cure out of my mind, but I was growing worse every day. I was in a general run down condition and was growing worse daily. About half of the time I could not work."

"The specialists who are introducing this new tonic, 'Tona Vita,' are located at the Hall & Lyon Drug Store, where they can be consulted every day during their stay here from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m."

BUD AND NELLIE HEIM

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Mirth and mystery hold sway at Keith's theatre this week for the bill is the strongest by far yet offered by this popular playhouse. Starting with the mystery illusion "Memento Mori" is all that has been said of it and perhaps more. The operator, Mr. Berol, who invented the illusion, does not claim to do anything through supernatural agencies but tells you he has a mechanical illusion which he can make you solve. He presents his act on a brightly lighted stage and invites you to go on the stage and get close while the act is being presented. The act consists of an ordinary white "blackboard" suspended perpendicularly from the fly gallery swinging like a pendulum from two ropes. It does not touch the floor of the stage and the operator goes under and around it to show that it is not connected with any wires. He takes a tennis ball and slaps it against the board, and then commands it to write, and away goes the ball, up and down, in and out, writing different words. The operator now shows the audience, and without returning to the stage commands the ball to write different words suggested by the audience, which it does without delay though the operator is not within reaching distance of it and the vigilance committee of the audience can see no wires or strings. It is perhaps more. THE NEWLYWEDS IN "OVER NIGHT"

Poughkeepsie that night. Ordering rooms they register. At the same hotel Al Rivers, Miss Powers and her aunt with other friends arrive. Miss Powers is welcomed by a married friend, that, through information gathered, Al is only a money-hunter. The latter, in a pretended pain reading by Caroline is admonished to relinquish his matrimonial scheme. Realizing now that he loves her, he, on her retiring to her room, tells of his love in a note which she slips under what he supposes her door, begging that she care for him, to wear violets at breakfast. The door under which he slips the note is, through a misunderstanding, that of her maiden aunt, Mr. Darling and Mrs. Kettle arrive and, in the same ludicrous predicament as the other couple, register. All retire. In the morning the aunt appears decked in violets, is informed of the real state of affairs by Al, threatens to discontinue her journey, should the latter return Al's affection, but all to no avail. Meanwhile, Richard and Elsie, to quell suspicious entertained by the maiden lady and a friend, publicly are very much in love. This is witnessed by Mr. Darling and Mrs. Kettle, who become enraged and a general row follows. Mr. Darling engages a traveling hypnotist, who by coercion, his powers on Elsie makes her explain unconsciously and thereby clears the mix-up. Everything being explained satisfactorily the newlyweds re-change partners.

Forest A. Young as Richard Kettle

He played the well-fed, subjugated husband in a real, therefore a mirthful manner. His Miss Powers' deferential bearing and his admiration of his wife's assertive and commanding qualities portrayed the innocent hen-peck in a most ludicrous manner, while the sudden curtness in his bearing at the time when he "came back" on his wife, was comical in the extreme. Francis Larriero, as Mrs. Darling, enacted the young girl-like wife, who imagines her husband the one and only as truly as if she had perfected her part in the school of experience. Her adoration of her husband and her gallery directed at Richard, the "saintly" wife, who, in such a plight, proved the wrong man in the wrong place, demonstrated her abilities as one of the most mirth-producing and charming comedienne seen here in many a day.

The name "Percy" if the connotation attached to it is at all correct was a misnomer when inflicted on Mrs. Darling's baby, for he was a strapping and energetic man. The firmness with which he rebuked Mrs. Kettle would make a mummy grin. This role was looked after in a splendid manner by Mr. William Conklin. If a militant satirist is as domineering and as strong-minded as that shown by Margaret Williams' impersonation of Mrs. Kettle, then dash for the cyclone cellar when one appears. Miss Williams acted her part finely. Joseph Dillon as Al Rivers, a devil-may-care, handsome young man, by his amusing and entertaining portrayal of the role whereby the fortune hunter develops into the lover, showed that he can dispense comedy and make love with the best of them.

The clerk of the country hotel, a lively lad of half-impudent and amusing disposition was onto all the latest "stuff" from New York and would match his wit with whoever applied for a room. Robbins Bligham was the lad.

Last but not least, Barney Johnson, a real colored steward, secured, it is not unlikely from the Pathman company, made the audience roar by his ever-repeated answer "On de fah, sah."

The other members of the company enacted their parts in a very efficient manner. The cast:

THE SPENDTHRIFT

Local theatregoers have a treat in store for them in the long looked for production here of "The Spendthrift," the latest play by Porter Emerson Browne, who wrote "A Fool There Was." This drama has proven a sensation the country over since it left New York, where it remained for five months at the Hudson theatre, delighting large audiences of New Yorkers and visitors to the metropolis and defying even summer heat in New York which drove all else but the lightest musical comedies and roof garden shows to cover. The entire New York production of this play will come here intact.

A GIRL OF THE MOUNTAINS

O. E. Wee's new version of Tom Parker's society drama, "A Girl of the Mountains," will be seen at the Metropolitan Theatre, Oct. 12. The story tells how Nellie Bonn was kidnapped while but a baby, for revenge. She meets Richard Thurston and is led astray by him. He leaves her in her mountain home and returns to the city. Three years later Nellie meets and loves Victor Lambert. He proposes, but Nellie hesitates owing to the one secret of her life. Her friend, Roy Vernon, knowing all, advises her to be happy. She accepts Victor, but Richard Thurston learning of this tells Victor Lambert the truth. Victor breaks off his engagement with Nellie. It will be presented with a competent cast and complete scenic production.

NAUGHTY MARIETTA

At the Opera House on Saturday, Oct. 14, matinee and night, the new production, "Naughty Marietta" will be presented.

The story concerns the adventures of the Countess Marietta D'Altena, an Italian maiden of noble lineage, who, rather than remain as a pupil in a Parisian convent and submit to an objectionable marriage which her parents have arranged for her, disguises herself as a caquette girl and is sent to New Orleans at the command of the king of France to become the wife of a French colonist. On arrival she disdains all matrimonial advances made to her by him and the other rough fellows and falls in love with Captain Richard Harrington, a forest ranger and woman-hater. How the mischievous little runaway eventually overcomes his aversion to women and is wedded to him, develops many dramatic and humorous situations.

THE ANTI-TRUST LAW

Is Again Before the Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—After striving for nearly two years to interpret the Sherman anti-trust law in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases, the supreme court of the United States was brought face to face, on this, the first day for argument of cases in the new term, with the self-same Sherman anti-trust law.

The tobacco case was the last case decided at the preceding term of the court, ending May 23. A so-called hard coal case, another governmental trust busting suit, was to be found at the head of the list for consideration today.

AVIATOR RODGERS

RESUMED HIS FLIGHT TO THE COAST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 10.—Aviator Rodgers resumed his coast to coast flight at 8:25 a. m. in fine weather conditions. He departed toward Kansas City, changing the course from that originally planned, which included St. Louis. Rodgers is within a few miles of the American long distance record made by Harry Atwood recently in his flight from St. Louis to New York.

FOREIGN MISSIONS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 10.—Missionaries. Congregational preachers and laymen to the number of 400 are in attendance at the 10th annual meeting of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, which opened at four o'clock today. The ministers and laymen came from as far as Maine and Hawaii to hear reports of the year's work, to listen to 25 of the 50 or more missionaries home on furlough and to the addresses of leaders in the work.

Among the prominent missionaries present was the veteran, Dr. J. K. Greene of Constantinople, who for nearly 50 years has watched the dramatic events of Turkish history, and Dr. Chalmers Goodrich, who has seen all the scenes at China's capital, Peking. Among the speakers from this country are A. J. Lewis of Brooklyn, Rev. A. Z. Conrad of Boston, H. A. Stinson of New York and President Edward Eaton of Beloit college. The report of the treasurer, Harry Wilson, announced the receipt of a million dollar gift to the board as a memorial to the late Dr. J. W. Alden. The fund to be known as the D. Willis James Foundation.

CONSTANCE JACKSON

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Our stock company at the Merrimack Square theatre is this week producing "The Witches of the Night" and it is safe to say that it is one of the best if not the best little playlets presented at this popular house.

The act is a novel one and very amusing. A brief synopsis, being as follows: A young man who has been away from his home for several months because of his business returns to his apartment a day previous to his schedule and finds it completely deserted. He calls at the apartment of his best friend and there discovers his wife and the friend. The husband demands an immediate explanation and when nothing satisfactory is forthcoming, he decides that for the protection of his wife's good name and honor, one of the men must die. He prepares two pills of paper into a glass, one containing the word "death." The one picking this pill must shoot himself in the head in the presence of the other. The latter will call the police and tell some kind of a story about suicide. The proposition, of course, does not receive the approval of the friend, but the husband is determined, and both draw. The friend opens his slip and finds the word "death" written thereon. He is called upon to carry out his part of the compact, but his nerve fails him and when the husband threatens to shoot him, the wife pleads for his life. The husband then turns the gun on himself and threatens to end his life, but the wife quickly convinces him that the suspicions of her are quite unfounded, and with the added assurance of the friend, that everything claimed by her is true, he explains that his proposition was one of chance to test the faithfulness of his friend. Another very interesting act is the one presented by the Wilson Brothers, namely two artists, who accomplish some wonderfully difficult feats on the bars. Billy Ray, known as the Musical Chink, plays several instruments in clever style and should contribute his proportionate share to the excellence of the week's bill. Leslie Laine and Queen dancers and singers are most enjoyable, and Miss May Monahan, the week's soloist, is very clever. The photo-plays for the first three days are unusually good.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Big Jack Chagnon, a former Lowell favorite with theatre-goers, made his re-appearance on the local stage at the Hathaway Theatre last evening when he opened in the leading role of "Texas," a charming western comedy drama by William Rose. It seemed good to see the big fellow once more and hear his resonant voice and the fair-sized audience present welcomed him back in a manner that let no doubt as to his sincerity. The cast was as follows:

Col. Buck West Mr. Harry Arnold
Jack Dullum Mr. Jack Chagnon
Lord Angus Trevor Mr. LeRoy Clemmons
Corpus Christi Mr. Dan McCabe
Pasquale Mr. Chas. Stevens
Percy Mr. Wm. C. Walsh
Howie Mr. Joseph Guthrie
Sam Sorrell Mr. Chas. Cymbale
Oklahoma Mr. Donald Meek
Mrs. Popper Miss Marie Hunt
Mrs. West Miss Marcia Williams
Lady Cecilia Trevor Miss Louise Langdon

"Texas," while admitting of some gun-play, for it wouldn't be a western drama without the shooting, is not of the blood and thunder variety but brings in a large amount of comedy and not a little romance, both of which features are excellently carried out by Mr. Meek and his clever company. "Texas" is a charming daughter of the west living on a ranch with her father and in love with "Jack Dullum," otherwise called "Freshwater Jack," the pride of the rangers. Along comes an English lord accompanied by his pretty sister, who also falls in love with Jack. A greatest named "B-square," directed on the ranch of "Texas" father and with the English lord conspires to get the ranch away from the old man. They are about to succeed when their scheme is thwarted by "Jack."

As "Texas" Miss Marie Horton makes a most lovable daughter of the plains and is most attractive in her cow-girl attire. Her acting was faultless and she was the recipient of much well merited applause. Miss Langdon as usual was most captivating and gave the role of "Lady Trevor" in most graceful manner. One had to look twice to discover Donald Meek among the wild-looking rangers that crowded the stage but once the fun began he was speedily recognized as "Oklahoma," who has a little love affair of his own on the side. Mr. Chagnon gave an excellent interpretation of the role of "Freshwater Jack," while Mr. Stevens as "Pasquale" was faultless and his stage fall brought forth the plaudits of the gallery critics who go strongly for stage falls. Mr. Leroy Clemmons, a new member of the company, made good as Lord Trevor while the other members of the company were seen to good advantage. The play is staged and presented under the personal direction of Mr. Meek and was finely staged. The Hathaway orchestra gave a particularly pleasing bill including the popular descriptive "Hunting Scene." Next week the Donald Meek stock company will present "The Lost Paradise," a beautiful story of the battle of capital and labor.

AN EARTHQUAKE

RECORDED ON THE SEISMOGRAPH AT BROOKLYN COLLEGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—An earthquake, probably not more than 1000 miles distant and of considerable magnitude, was recorded this morning on the seismograph at Brooklyn college. The record began at 8:15 and continued until 8:55 with the maximum disturbance at 8:32. The strongest movement was in the north-south direction. The disturbance was considerably more severe than that recorded by last week's shock in Haiti.

TWO INQUESTS HELD

Inquiry Into Death of a Man and a Woman

An inquest on the death of Clarence H. Sprague was held yesterday at the police court, Judge Frederic A. Fisher presiding. Sprague was found on the Boston & Maine railroad tracks near North Chelmsford on Sept. 21, and was removed to the hospital where he died a short while later.

Another inquest was held this afternoon before Judge Fisher, that over the death of Mrs. Mary Watson, who was killed last week by a train on the Boston & Maine railroad tracks at the school street crossing.

An inquest on the death of James L. Lorne, who was killed last week by an elevator at the plant of the United States Wagon company, in Howe street will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow before Judge Fisher, that over the day morning.

LIVELY OLD VET JUSTICE TANNER

George Hayes Observes Denies Petition of I.U. His 70th Birthday S. J. Bte. d'Amerique

There was something doing at the home of the "Two Old Vets" on the Nashua road yesterday for one of them is observing his 70th birthday.

The vets are George Hayes, who is celebrating his birthday, and his brother, Walter Hayes Farwell, with whom he was recently reunited after an absence of 40 years.

The two brothers separated in their early days, both being orphans and Walter Hayes became a member of the Farwell family, taking the family name.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Presiding Justice Tanner in the superior court yesterday denied the petition of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique for permission to transact the business of the next general congress of the organization at the special meeting to be held Dec. 12 next for receiving the resignations of the present executive officers of the society.

The court based its decision on the theory that it had no jurisdiction to amend a decree that had been entered by consent, as was the case in this instance. Consequently, a general congress will have to be held next September in addition to the special meeting in December. It costs about $5000 to hold a general congress.

ESCAPED INJURY

Baby Fell From a Third Story Window

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Physicians at the Haymarket Square Relief hospital are astounded at the escape, bordering on the miraculous, of little Phyllis Albree, an 18-month-old baby, who tumbled through a third story window, fell 30 feet to the ground, and received only a few bumps and cuts.

The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford D. Albree of 183 Sherman square, Charlestown. Mrs. Albree was busy about the house yesterday, when one of the other children, whom she had placed in charge of the baby, left the door of the dining room open. Phyllis tumbled in from the kitchen and sprang up on the window sill, scrambling up with the aid of a trunk. She sat there for a moment, clapping her hands in glee, and was seen from the street by William Carlton, who resided next door. He saw that the infant was about to tumble out, and jumping the fence, ran to catch her.

He was just too late, for even as he was hurrying the fence the baby tumbled over from the window, turning over and over in the air as she fell.

Carlton picked her up and hurried to the relief hospital, where he had scarcely arrived when he was joined by Mrs. Albree, who was half frantic for fear the baby was seriously injured.

Physicians made an instant examination, but found to their surprise that none of her bones were fractured, and the only apparent injuries received were cuts and bruises.

WOMAN HAD MONEY

She Was Supposed to be a Pauper

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Hidden in the clothing of Miss Mary Grove, who died last Wednesday in a room in the South End, the medical examiner found yesterday $310.33 in cash and a handkerchief showing deposits of $250. She was 68 years old, and resided with her sister, Mrs. Mary Sanborn, 71 years of age. Among their ancestors was Col. Jonathan Cass of Revolutionary fame.

Money for Mrs. Sanborn had been collected by a charitable society, but yesterday she was told that it would be returned to the donors. She then produced $400, which she had saved to pay for her funeral.

After the death of their mother the sisters left the house where they had lived in the West End, and took up lodgings in a tiny room on Savoy street, which runs off Savoy street, in the South End.

The older sister worked as a seamstress, the younger in a leather factory. Four weeks ago Miss Grove was taken ill. Last Wednesday, returning from work, she found "her little sister," as she called her, dead on the floor of the shabby room.

FUNERALS

FUGERE.—The funeral of the late Anna Fugere took place yesterday from her late home, 28 Hancock avenue, and was largely attended. The cortege left the house at 8 o'clock and wended its way to St. Jean Baptiste church, where at 3.15 o'clock high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Gratton, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of George E. Caffee rendered the Gregorian chant, Mr. Arthur J. Martel presiding at the organ. The bearers were Arthur Desloges, Pierre Sylvestre, Wilfrid Moreau, Leo Sylvestre, O. Gauthier and Adolphe Bourgeois. The third order of St. Francis, of which deceased was a member, was represented as follows: Alexander Duncanson, Rosamund Fraser and Henry Boisvert. The delegates from Cordis ad Yonville were Mrs. Henri Blanchette, Misses Philomene Demers, Bernadine Desautels and Eva Lussier. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Rev. Fr. Gratton, O. M. I., reciting the canonical prayers at the grave. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Amadee Archambault.

THE CENTRAL FIGURES IN THE LATEST NAVY ROW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—There has been considerable comment recently in naval circles over the forthcoming retirement of Rear Admiral Reginald F. Nicholson, U. S. N., as chief of the Bureau of Navigation and his assignment to the command of the Asiatic squadron, succeeding Rear Admiral Joseph B. Murdock. Admiral Nicholson was appointed chief of the bureau of navigation on Dec. 1, 1909, and under ordinary circumstances would serve for a period of four years. It is understood that Admiral Nicholson is not in sympathy with the legislative program of Secretary Meyer, especially in regard to questions affecting the personnel of the navy. Secretary Meyer has selected Admiral Nicholson's successor, but will not make public the name of the new chief until he has obtained the approval of President Taft. Among those mentioned in naval circles for the place are Captain Nathaniel R. Usher, until recently in command of the battleship Michigan of the Atlantic fleet; Captain Temple H. Potts, chief intelligence officer, and Commander Philip Andrew, naval aide to Secretary Meyer.

WOMAN SUFFRAGIST

Follows Candidate Frothingham and Puts Question to Him

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 10.—In an effort to have Louis A. Frothingham, republican candidate for governor, pledge himself to woman's suffrage, Miss Margaret Foley, a suffragist who established a great reputation for "heckling" in the primary campaign in Boston, appeared yesterday at every meeting addressed by the republican orators in Berkshire county.

While Mr. Frothingham was talking at the opening rally of the day in front of the Red Lion Inn at Stockbridge, an automobile drove up alongside the one in which he talked. In it were four women and a chauffeur. As the speaker concluded an enormous yellow flag was waved by one of the women. On it were words in large letters, "Votes for Women."

With the appearance of the flag there sounded a shrill voice. "Mr. Frothingham, Mr. Frothingham, I would like to ask a question. Will you answer it?"

Mr. Frothingham, climbed down from the automobile, walked to the car in which Miss Foley of the Massachusetts Equal Suffrage Association stood, introduced herself and told her how glad he was to meet her.

"Mr. Frothingham, will you answer a few of my questions?" she asked.

"I am sorry," he replied, "but I have a train, perhaps for today and cannot be delayed." With that he got into his car and departed for the next stop on his campaign tour.

Miss Foley was undaunted. In the car with Miss Foley were Miss Anne Carpenter, Miss Gay and Miss K. A. Parsons. The latter made copious notes in a large book of the remarks of the republican speakers. Miss Foley climbed into the seat of her automobile and made a fiery attack upon the republican candidate and his policies.

LOWELL MAN PRESIDED

At Meeting of Stockholders of Credit Foncier Canadien

Arthur Laberge was voted out of the coming state election. His presidency at a meeting of the Credit Foncier Canadien, held in Arcadia hall, was sent to Canada to work in the interests of the organization, which controls the lumber trade in Canada and the Credit Foncier Canadien is one of the largest business organizations controlled by French Canadian people. In order to cause his removal letters were sent to the stockholders informing them of the charges against Mr. Laberge and asking that their proxies be sent to the secretary to be used at a meeting called for the purpose of affecting his removal. Mr. Laberge, finding out that this movement was on foot, engaged Percy W. Gardner as counsel and went to court for a restraining order to prevent the use of these proxies at the meeting until he could send out letters to the stockholders explaining his side of the question. The restraining order was granted by the court and the use of proxies at the meeting was prohibited. No action was taken.

stockholders controlling over 285,000 shares of stock had voted for his removal, while stockholders controlling but about 21,000 shares favored his retention. The victory of the officers of the organization, who promoted the agitation for the removal of Mr. Laberge, was complete, but the officers stated that there may be something more doing before he is through with the case.

According to information given out by President Joseph Brochu, after the meeting, Mr. Laberge openly admitted that he was against Premier Laurier and Prime Minister Gouin in the recent Canadian fight. He also stated that he would work against Gov. Pothier, according to President Brochu, in the future.

SON OF CHAS. DICKENS

Alfred Tennyson Dickens Lectured at Middlesex Women's Club

Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of the noted English novelist, Charles Dickens, lectured at the Middlesex Women's club at Colonial hall yesterday afternoon. It was the first lecture that he delivered in this country and the members of the club and his friends gave him an ovation which undoubtedly will encourage him in his efforts to visit this country in the future.

Mr. Dickens recalled the visit which his father made to this city and the references made to Lowell. He also drew graphic pictures of the great novelist.

The hall was taxed to its capacity and it was necessary to refuse admission to many people who had made applications for tickets.

The prominent lecturer arrived in this city yesterday afternoon shortly before four o'clock and there was a delegation waiting to meet him at the northern station.

Upon arriving at the hall he was given a great reception, but said that he did not take the applause as being intended for him, but that he looked upon it as a tribute of respect to his father. He said he felt that his father's name would stand second to that of Shakespeare in time to come.

The lecture was made up largely of incidents in the family life of Charles Dickens. The speaker referred to poor "little Jack" in "Bleak House" and said: "This is only one out of many hundreds of similar actions of which the world knew nothing; for it can truly be said of him, that he never left his left hand knew what his right hand was doing."

He used to work strenuously, night and day. This may be inferred, when I tell you that upon one occasion he was not only writing two novels simultaneously, but was editing the Daily News and conducting his voluminous correspondence. He almost invariably answered every letter that he received.

In his own handwriting, there were some amusing anecdotes of Dickens' absent-mindedness under the strain of his strenuous work. On one occasion, it was recalled, he bowed respectfully to one of the waiters who had served at a dinner party at Gad's Hill, and then inquired what dignity of the church it was, that he had just recognized. On another occasion, after a theatrical performance in which he had taken part, wishing to show courtesy to a lady, he wrapped her shoulders carefully in a pair of his own undervest, thinking he had picked up her own cloak.

In the year 1859, Dickens' favorite sister, Fanny, died. "A Child's Dream of a Star," his son thinks, was suggested by his thoughts of that sister. Mr. Dickens' recited "Dream."

The speaker told of his father's happy life at Gad's Hill. He was always the moving spirit in everything that took place. On one occasion Marcus Stone burst in on the house and declared that he had been waylaid by two thieves; and the novelist and his son, with their guests, one of whom was Willie Collins, went out with all sorts of weapons on an unsuccessful hunt for the thieves. Six weeks ago Mr. Dickens said, he visited the old home at Gad's Hill. While there, he ran across an old servant of his father, who recalled to the memory of "Mr. Alfred" incidents connected with his father.

While writing Nicholas Nickleby, Dickens received many letters from people advising him how to finish it. One, a letter from a little boy, was answered at considerable length by the novelist, who in closing his letter, said, "I would like to write to me every Christmas, as I will write to you every year."

Dickens' last appearance in public was on April 10, 1870, at Royal Academy dinner, where he paid a tribute of respect to Daniel Maclise.

It has been asserted by critics of the novelist, said Mr. Dickens, that people who could not possibly have known anything about him—that he was an irreligious man. Now, I will prove to you indisputably, from the letter which I hold in my hand, that he was a deeply religious man. This letter was written by a lady, never before mentioned by him, when he came to join me in Australia. In this letter the novelist advises his son: "Never take a mean advantage of anyone in any transaction, and never be hard upon people who are in your path. Try to do to others as you would have them do to you, and do not be discouraged if they fail sometimes. It is much better far, that they should fail in obeying the greatest rule of the Savior, than that you should do so."

The letter speaks of a new Testament, put in with the other books, and goes on to say: "It is the best book that ever was or ever will be known in this world." "The more we are in earnest as to feeling it, the less we are disposed to hold forth concerning it. Never abandon the wholesome practice of saying your own prayers, night and morning, and never abandon your own self, and I know the comfort of it."

On the 8th day of June, 1870, at 6 o'clock in the evening, the great novelist fell, as he was about to sit down to dinner, just 24 hours later he passed away.

THE PAYROLLS PADDED

Six Employees of New Haven Road Placed Under Arrest

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Six employees of the New Haven & Hartford road, consisting of engineers and firemen, were arrested today on a charge of padding their payrolls. Most of the men were employed on the Taunton division. The men under arrest are Edward Atcherly of Winthrop, timekeeper, George B. Blair of Dorchester, engineer, Arthur A. Hommel, South Boston, New Haven & Hartford road, engineer; John Murray, Dorchester, fireman; William A. Sears, South Boston, fireman, and Arthur Blair of Dorchester, fireman. It is charged that the men entered into a conspiracy to defraud the company of $2500 through the assistance of the timekeeper, who is charged with making false entries.

BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE

BAR HARBOR, Me., Oct. 10.—The 40-foot speed boat Wids, built at a cost of $4500 for Alessandro Sabbi of New York, one of Bar Harbor's summer residents, and purchased six weeks ago by William Keith of this place, was burned to the water's edge and sunk in the harbor today by a fire originating from an explosion of gasoline. Captain William Jordan and Mr. Keith, who acted as engineer, both jumped overboard in great haste and were picked up by a rowboat. One of Mr. Keith's arms was injured in getting overboard and he was slightly burned about the face. Captain Jordan was not hurt. Mr. Keith was just starting the engine when it "back-fired" and flames were communicated by some gasoline from the engine pit to the gasoline tank. The boat was well insured. It was capable of making 30 miles an hour.

RETURNS OF STATE PRIMARIES

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Complete returns of the state primary vote of Sept. 26 have now been filed with the secretary of state. The work of tabulating the vote for the head of the ticket was being pushed today and at the secretary's office hopes were expressed that the official announcement of the vote for governor would be ready by tomorrow.

TO UNCLOG THE PORES REMOVE STIFLING SKIN

"Clogged pores are the cause of many complexion difficulties," according to Dr. Homan Ward. "This condition makes the skin coarse in texture. It interferes with elimination of waste matter, producing a muddy or blotchy complexion, eruptions and other defects. To open and cleanse the closed pores there is nothing more effective than ordinary nevelized wax, used as you would cold cream, but not rubbed in. It should be applied at night and washed off in the morning. Nevelized wax, to be had at any drug store, will also remove the effects of the condition referred to. This wax removes the undesirable marks. Possessing a peculiar absorbent power, it draws out the soiled skin in minute particles, but so gradually there is no irritation or inconvenience. It is recommended in preference to cosmetics, as the new complexion it reveals is a perfectly natural one."

Lowell Textile School

EVENING CLASSES OPEN OCT. 16, 1911, AT 7 O'CLOCK

Examinations and registration Thursday evening, Sept. 28th and Oct. 5th, and Friday evening, Oct. 13th, at the school at 7 o'clock. CHARLES H. EAMES, Principal.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex: I, MARY A. TICE, of Lowell, do hereby certify that she was lawfully married to Albert S. Tice, now of New York, in the County and State of New York, at said Lowell, on the seventh day of March, A. D. 1900, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Albert S. Tice, lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Lowell, and that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, and that the said Albert S. Tice, being wholly incapable of the same, said Lowell, on or about the first day of January, A. D. 1907, utterly and cruelly deserted your libellant, which said desertion has continued from said first day of January, 1907, to the present time, being more than three years next preceding the filing of this libel. And said Albert S. Tice, at said Lowell, at various times has been guilty of cruel and abusive treatment toward your libellant; and said Albert S. Tice, being of sufficient ability so to do, grossly, wantonly and cruelly refuses and neglects to provide suitable maintenance for your said libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Albert S. Tice, and your libellant further represents that there has been born of said marriage three children, to wit, Margaret, age ten years; Arvin, age nine; and a child yet unborn. Of these said children your libellant prays that she be given the care and custody.

Dated this twenty-third day of September, A. D. 1911. MARY A. TICE. COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Superior Court, Oct. 10, A. D. 1911. Upon the libel aforesaid, it is ordered that the libellant notify the libellee to appear before our Justices of said Court, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of November next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of the order thereon, to be published in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, once a week, successive days, for the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said last mentioned day, and that an attested copy of said libel and order thereon be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, that he may then and there show cause, if any he have, why the prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk. A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.

PRESIDENT TAFT

IS READY FOR A HARD DAY'S WORK

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 10.—President Taft spent the night here and rose refreshed for a hard day's work which was to include two speeches in Seattle and Tacoma before large audiences, a visit to the Puget Sound navy yard and a steamer ride to Tacoma. His first two engagements were a breakfast with Congressman Humphries and participation in the christening of his grand nephew, Charles Taft Snowden, 11 weeks old. Later the president, with a military escort, left the hotel for a parade through the business streets, which were gay with bunting. The high schools and the state university dismissed their students who mingled with the street throngs and made the air ring with their cheers.

At noon the president addressed a great open air meeting on the vacant square at Fourth avenue and Jefferson street. Immediately after the meeting the president went to the residence of former Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and ate dinner with dozen other guests. From the home of Mr. Ballinger, the president went to Bremerton and then to Tacoma.

A big public meeting in Tacoma tonight will end the day's work.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE

President Harvey B. Greene and Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board of trade are attending the annual meeting of the Massachusetts board of trade at the Hotel Vendome in Boston today. There was a large attendance and considerable information of interest to the commonwealth was referred to and many measures of importance adopted.

TO TALK ON CHARTER

The Brotherhood of the Grace Universalist church will meet Thursday night at the church in Boston street and the principal matter to be brought to the attention of the members will be the revision of the charter. The speakers will be Principal Henry H. Harris of the Varian grammar school and William N. Osgood, Esq., the latter being one of the most prominent advocates of the charter. It is expected that a general discussion will follow the addresses.

AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

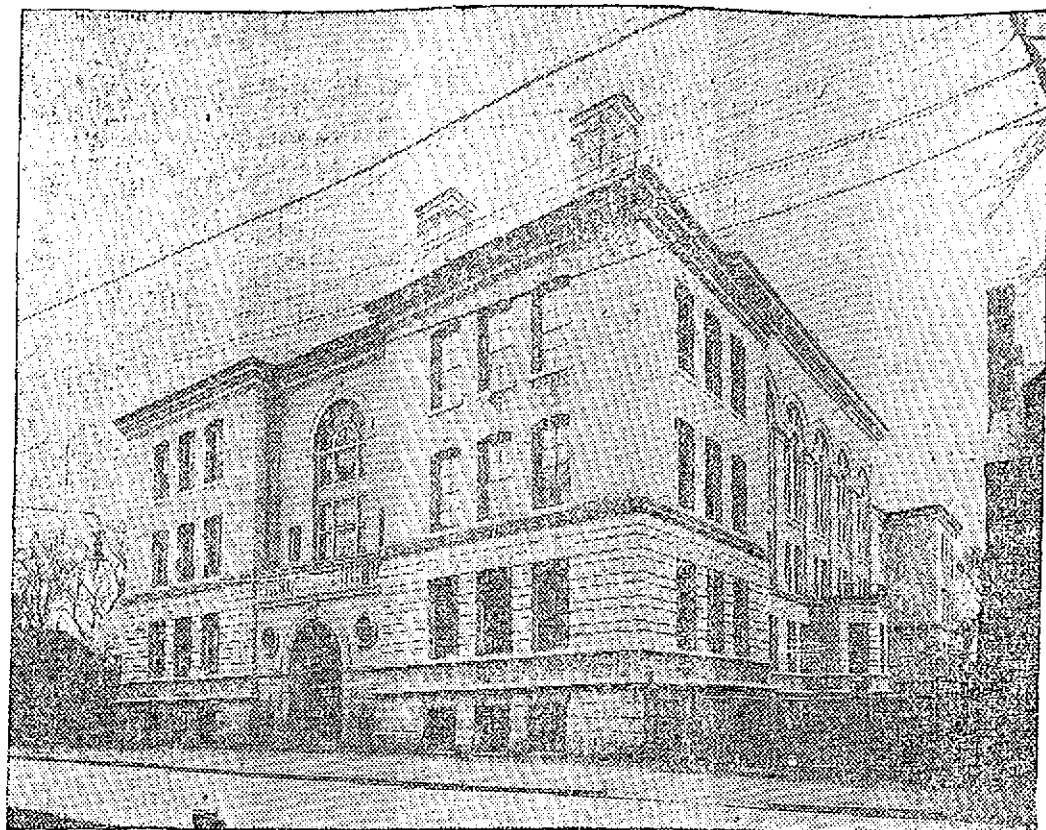

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Plans for the reorganization of the American Tobacco Co. were still under way by officials of the company today. Indications are that they will not be submitted to the United States circuit court for several days. W. W. Fuller, counsel for the American Tobacco Co., said: "Our plan will not be filed with the court today and I cannot tell as yet when it will be filed."

PROPER WAY TO SHAMPOO

In an address before a large audience of beauty seekers today, Miss Martyn, the famed authority on such matters, said: "Common sense teaches us that the hair and scalp should be thoroughly cleansed of dirt, excess oil and dandruff without using water. And yet it is a common mistake that most women make in using soap in any form for shampooing. The woman who shampoos with soap soon notices her hair losing its gloss, splitting at the ends, becoming brittle and thin. These troubles can easily and best be avoided by using as a shampoo, one teaspoonful of cambray dissolved in a cup of hot water. The hair will rinse easily, dry quickly without streaking, and becomes brighter and softer. Many hair-dressers have adopted this shampoo with excellent results. It seems to possess every quality of a perfect shampoo."—Denver Call.

EVENING SCHOOLS

THE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL

Opened For the Term Last Evening With Large Attendance

The evening schools of the city opened last evening under most auspicious circumstances, the attendances on opening night being up to the average and up to the expectations of the school officials.

Great interest centered in the opening of the evening sessions of the industrial schools in the Morrill and old Eastcott schools and at these the registration was up to the most sanguine hopes of the most enthusiastic promoters of the new school.

The opening of the school seems to have pleased everyone in Lowell, the school board, city council, teachers and public. The only breath of opposition to the industrial schools was that they would draw away from the high school. Principal Irish did not believe that such would be the case and subsequent events have proved that his judgment on the matter was good, for the day high school opened with 1250 pupils, an increase of 30 over last year, while the evening high school opened last evening with an attendance of 645 out of a registration of 767. While it is not to be understood for a moment that the industrial school is an institution for high school delinquents it is a fact that there are many children whose parents have the means to permit them to go to school who do not take kindly to book instruction and hence make poor scholars at the high school, who will get along nicely with the practical education afforded by the industrial school and these are to be greatly benefited by the school. While in planning the courses to be taught at the industrial school the trade of plumbing was not considered by the school committee, after the matter got under way the Master Plumbers association of this city petitioned the school board to include a class in plumbing in the course at the industrial institution. This the school board did and the class opened last evening with 20 pupils. The class in electricity also had 30 pupils on opening night.

While of course all who will attend the evening sessions did not put in an appearance last evening the registration for the evening classes of the industrial school reaches the surprisingly large number of 1500, a majority of whom are young women, and Principal Dooley has rearranged the classes so as to avoid an overflow. The classes of the regular courses are held in the morning and then there are afternoon and evening classes. It has been found that a number who intended to attend the evening classes can attend those of the afternoon and at the request of the school authorities have agreed to do so, thus relieving the crush at the evening classes. Then again, in the dressmaking department for instance, pupils will receive sufficient instructions and home work in one night to keep them busy at home for a week and hence different pupils will be instructed on different nights. This scheme will be applied to other classes as well as the dressmaking. Last night was devoted to the classification of the various grades and branches of the work and will be continued through the week. By next Monday everything will be in running order and then Principal Dooley will be able to give authentic figures as to the size of the school.

Supt. Whitcomb Teaches Hebrews Supt. Whitcomb had his first experience as a teacher of Hebrew pupils at the Howard st. evening school, which reopened last evening after a shutdown of a few years. Some ten years back the Hebrew residents of the city petitioned the school board to open an evening school in Howard street for Hebrews exclusively. This was done, but after a few years the attendances fell down and the idea was abandoned. This year a similar request was made and the school was opened last night. Supt. Whitcomb visited this new school intending to go later to some of the others. When he arrived there, however, he found one teacher trying to look after 28 pupils of all sizes and ages. The superintendent got busy at once and taking 14 of the older pupils started in to teach them English. Among the 14 not one spoke a word of English and the superintendent was just as strong on Hebrew but he started by naming the different objects in the room on the blackboard and becoming interested in the work remained there until the close of the session. "They did me the honor of asking me to teach them all season," said Superintendent Whitcomb. In this class all were men, nearly all in the vicinity of 40 years of age while one man was 60 years of age.

Evening High School

Principal Robbins was much pleased last evening at the first night's attendance, the figures of which were given above. More than 150 others not already registered applied last evening but as the evening was devoted to the classification of the grades the new applicants were told to come again on Wednesday evening when the final registration will take place.

The Elementary Schools

While there has been a dropping off in some of the elementary schools from last year, others show a gain so that the total attendance in all probability will average up to last year. It is enough of them present last evening to fill a room. The Mann school, where pupils are Greek men exclusively, opened with 262 against 284 last year. The Worthen street had 68 against 57 last year. The biggest gain perhaps was at the Cabot street school which is to take the place of the old Cheever street building which was used for many years as an evening school. Last year the Cheever street had only 12 pupils during opening week while last night 100 were in attendance. Up to this writing no reports had been heard from the Butler, Riverside, Franklin or Middlesex village schools, though in all probability these will be up to the average.

SEARCH FOR NEGRO

Who Attacked a High School Girl

COATESVILLE, Pa., Oct. 10.—An all-night search in the woods and farms of this vicinity failed to reveal any trace of the negro who yesterday attempted an assault on Annie McElhenny, 16 years old, while she was on her way from the Coatesville high school to her father's farm. Coatesville was much wrought up over the affair last night.

The town today is in a calmer mood and the state police and the Coatesville authorities have taken charge of the search. There is no danger of a repetition of the scene of Aug. 13 when Zack Walker was burned to death for the killing of a girl, who is suffering from the shock of the attack, was improved today and she was able to give the authorities further details of the attempted assault. She was on a road leading from Cahn to Mertonsville when the negro came upon her. She fought him as best she could but was being overpowered when a one-horse buggy came into view. The negro had torn half the clothes off the girl by this time, but when the carriage approached he threw his intended victim to the ground, jumped a fence and fled across the field.

THE GLOVER CASE

Lawyer is Allowed Fees of $7112

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 10.—For his legal labors during the past two years in defense of the will of Clarence Glover and as counsel for Glover's widow, Samuel D. Elmore, a Boston lawyer, was allowed $7,112 in the probate court today, to be paid out of the estate. Mr. Elmore has already received $2,000 and of the balance he is ordered to pay an equal amount to other lawyers involved in the case and to cover incidental expenses, so that his net receipts will be $4,112. Mr. Elmore asked for $11,318 at a hearing in the probate court two weeks ago. The allowance very nearly terminates the litigation in the probate and criminal courts arising over the murder of Glover in his laundry on Nov. 20, 1909.

ITALIANS LAND AT TOBRUK

40,000 TROOPS

Sailed From Agosta, Sicily, For
Tripoli Today

The advance guard of the Italian army landed today at Tobruk on the northeastern coast of Tripoli, 600 miles east of the city of Tripoli and 75 miles west of the Egyptian frontier.

Tobruk is one of the gateways to the richest part of the Turkish province and that section of Tripoli which the Italians are said particularly to covet. Thus is begun the occupation proper, upon the accomplishment of which depends Italy's willingness to entertain peace proposals.

The larger part of the Italian expedition is still at sea closely guarded by warships. Many transports carrying thousands of soldiers sailed from Italy last night and early today and others will leave tonight.

Communication between Tripoli and the outside world has been restored. Assim Bey, Turkish minister at Sofia, today accepted the post of foreign affairs in the new Turkish cabinet. At a council of the ministry it was decided to close all Italian industrial, financial and scholastic institutions in Turkey and to seize Italian vessels.

40,000 ITALIAN TROOPS SAIL

MALTA, Oct. 10.—It was reported here today that 40,000 Italian troops left Agosta, Sicily, for Tripoli last night on 50 transports which were escorted by the second division of the fleet under Vice Admiral Thaon D. Revel.

GIRL CHLOROFORMED CONSPIRACY ALLEGED

The Police Are Looking for Two In the Suit of Green vs. Hosmer and Burns

NORTH SCITUATE, R. I., Oct. 10.—The police of Scituate and the surrounding towns and villages were searching today for two Italians who last night chloroformed Miss Maudie Potter, 17 years old, in the store of her grandfather, Amasa Potter, here, and after robbing the till of $7.50, all it contained, locked her in the store and made their escape. Four suspects were arrested last night and today but none of them being recognized by the girl, all were released.

The two Italians entered the store shortly after seven o'clock when the girl was alone and asked for cigarettes. While she was getting the cigarettes one of the men put out the light and the two men seized her and tied a handkerchief saturated with chloroform over her mouth. After filling the till of its contents they told her she would find the key of the store in the cellar and left. She was overcome by the drug and slept for about half an hour. Three boys in the vicinity of the store, hearing her cries, broke in the door and found her lying on the floor. She was bruised about the face and body from the rough handling of the robbers, who threw her to the floor after gagging her, but otherwise was not badly injured.

City Solicitor Duncan has just received the papers in the case of William J. Green against Chief Edward S. Hosmer and Captain J. Edward Burns of the local fire department, in an action of tort.

At the time of the announcement of the suit Chief Hosmer was at a loss to know why he was sued.

The plaintiff's declaration alleges the defendants, Hosmer and Burns unlawfully conspired to remove him from his position on the fire department, which conspiracy they successfully carried out and that they made false and fraudulent statements under oath in court in the trial of the case of William J. Green vs. City of Lowell. Mr. Green's counsel is Jackson Palmer.

THE INHERITANCE TAX

On the Eddy Estate Cannot Be Claimed by Massachusetts

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The legal domicile of Mary Baker G. Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science denomination, was, at the time of her death, in Concord, N. H., according to the ruling of Associate Justice Morton of the Massachusetts supreme judicial court today. At the time of Mrs. Eddy's death she was, in the opinion of Associate Justice Morton, temporarily residing in Massachusetts.

The decision of Justice Morton is against the contention of Attorney-General Swift that Massachusetts should receive the inheritance tax on Mrs. Eddy's estate, instead of New Hampshire. The court also found that the Suffolk county probate court rightfully allowed as a foreign will a copy of Mrs. Eddy's will, the procedure being in accordance with the Massachusetts statutes.

Today's decision leaves as the only question remaining to be decided by the Massachusetts courts the right of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, to receive, under the will of Mrs. Eddy, real estate now held by trustees and exceeding more than $200,000 in value. The point at issue is whether the gift is not in conflict with a statute which forbids the gift to a single church of an amount yielding an annual income of more than $5,000. The directors of the Christian Science church claim that the bequest is not a direct gift to the church within the meaning of the statute but was left by Mrs. Eddy to promulgate and advance the religious doctrines which she taught.

ITALY'S PROPOSAL

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—It is learned in diplomatic circles today that Italy is willing to indemnify Turkey to the extent of about $12,000,000 for Tripoli but it is a question whether she is still willing to recognize Turkish suzerainty over Tripoli in any form. Popular feeling and desire to avoid future sources of conflict may have changed the attitude that Italy held before the war began.

ITALIAN TROOPS

WERE LANDED AT TOBRUK,
TRIPOLI, TODAY

ROME, Oct. 10.—The first Italian expeditionary force which left Naples on Oct. 15 was landed at Tobruk, Tripoli, today. It consisted of infantry, artillery and a company of engineers.

TURKEY'S REQUEST

SEEMS TO BE FAVORED BY THE POWERS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Chronicle at Constantinople telegraphs that the latest Turkish note to the powers was so conciliatory in tone that Germany has decided with the other governments to renew her approaches at Rome for an understanding. Some of the answers received by the Porte from the powers last night are favorable to Turkey's request.

Reports from Benghazi that two Italian cruisers were destroyed and from Derna that two Italian torpedo boat destroyers had been blown up by mines are in circulation but have not been confirmed.

STONE RECEIVED $2500

Testimony to Show How He Planned to "Cover Up"

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 10.—State Senator Blaine, testifying at the hearing into the election of U. S. Senator Stephenson today admitted that the first six of the charges made by him against Senator Stephenson were based on hearsay information. He said he had received no information first hand and he had brought the charges without a thorough investigation.

How $2500 was paid to State Game Warden Stone out of the campaign fund of Senator Stephenson and how Stone to "cover up" what was done with the money got his deputies to "pretend" to having received portions of it, was told today before the committee.

G. L. Kingsley, a deputy game warden, testified that in March, 1909, when the investigation by the state legislature was under way, he was called to Stone's home at Madison. The meeting was called at midnight and among those present were Deputy Game Wardens Kingsley, Johnson and Richmond, Assemblyman Thomas and Warden Stone.

"Stone said he had to account for $2500 and he wanted us to pretend we had received part of it," said Kingsley. "I was to pretend to have received $250, Johnson $250, and Richmond $250. We agreed to do this on condition that we would not be called to testify at the legislative investigation." Senator Heyburn, the chairman, then read the proceedings of the legislative investigation, at which Stone had testified that he actually did give the money to Kingsley. Kingsley repudiated Stone's testimony.

In another part of the legislative proceedings it was brought out that $1200 of the $2500 which Stone received was paid to James O. Davidson, then governor of Wisconsin as a campaign fund.

INSPECTOR WALSH

ARRESTED THREE BOYS ON A CHARGE OF LARCENY

Several people who have been parking their machines in Middle street while they have been in their offices in the vicinity of making calls on other streets have frequently reported to the police that they have had goggles, gloves, caps, tools and various accessories stolen from their machines. As a result of the report and the energetic work of Inspector John Walsh three young boys were brought into the police station this afternoon and they confessed to having made several thefts. They will be arraigned before the juvenile court at a later date.

DEATHS

MARSH—Mrs. Agnes Marsh of this city died very suddenly at Newport, R. I., Monday morning, while on a visit to relatives in that city. Deceased is survived by a daughter, Miss Inez Marsh, a son, Proctor Marsh, and a sister, Miss Fannie Proctor. The body was removed to this city to the late home of deceased, 194 Lincoln street by Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons. The funeral will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon from 183 Lincoln street. Friends invited. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

C. N. BLISS IS DEAD

Was Long a Leader in the Republican Party

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Cornelius Newton Bliss, for years a prominent figure in National republican politics, and otherwise well-known as a merchant and a member of the dry goods firm of Bliss, Fabry & Co., died at his home here last night of heart disease.

The end was not wholly unexpected for Mr. Bliss had been ill for a year and his family and friends had noted for some time that he was fast failing. He did not take to his bed, however, until a few days ago.

While his death is attributed to heart failure, there had been a recent breakdown, due to old age. Mr. Bliss was 75 years old, having been born in Fall River in 1833.

Mrs. Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, Jr. and Miss L. P. Bliss, a daughter, were at the bedside. No arrangements for the funeral had been made at a late hour last night. They will be announced today.

New England Born
Cornelius Newton Bliss was born in Fall River, Jan. 26, 1833, the son of Asahel and Irene Borden (Luther) Bliss. He was educated there and in New Orleans, whither he went with his mother and stepfather, Edward S. Keep, at the age of 14.

He was early introduced to business in Mr. Keep's counting room and was thoroughly grounded in trade practice. In 1855 Mr. Bliss came to Boston to Anty Drudge on Early Rising.

Mrs. Workhard (winding alarm clock)—"I always set the alarm for 4 o'clock on Monday morning, so I can make an early start with my washing and get through before dark."
Anty Drudge—"Nonsense. Just you sleep three hours later, and then send to the grocer's for some Fels-Naptha soap, and do your washing the Fels-Naptha way. Your wash will be on the line before noon, cleaner and whiter than ever before."

In India the women still go down to the river banks and wash clothes by rubbing them over stones.
They are unprogressive, we say. But they are no farther behind the times than the American women who still boil clothes and hard-rub them on a washboard. The women of India don't weaken their clothes by boiling, at least.
The truly modern way of washing is the Fels-Naptha way. No boiling to weaken the fibre; no hard-rubbing to wear and tear. Work saved, time saved, fuel saved; clothes cleaner.

ship but steadily declined on much the same reasons. He was for many years on the republican city committee of New York, but resigned in 1895, saying he had seen too much of petty officeholders.

Led in Harrison Campaign
In 1887 Mr. Bliss was chairman of the New York republican state committee, and led it in the next year in the victorious Harrison campaign. He was treasurer of the national committee during that campaign.

Mr. Bliss was offered the treasury portfolio by President Arthur, and declined it because he felt that he could not neglect his enormous business in New York. President McKinley and Mark Hanna, however, overcame his objections and he took up the work of the department of the interior. He was an ardent protectionist and fully in accord with Mr. McKinley's views on the tariff.

His Lavish Entertainment
He lived quietly in Washington, hardly from personal taste, but also out of regard for Mrs. Bliss' health, which had become precarious. When he did appear as a host, however, it was in the most magnificent style. One of his dinners, given to about 50 guests, fairly made Washington's eyes water, and actually started a new order of things in the capital. The decorations alone cost $5000, and the dinner itself was even more expensive.

The annual report of Secretary Bliss in 1898 showed a masterly grasp of details. During the year he had made a thorough investigation of the resources of Alaska, revolutionized the relations with the Chippewas and other Indian tribes, stilled the landed reserves of the government, led the way to future irrigation of desert areas by pointing out conditions, possibilities and necessities to greater efficiency of the position bureau, especially a legislative amendment in behalf of widows, whose husbands died while in service.

He left the cabinet in 1899 after the war with Spain, largely from divergence of his views from his colleagues on the disposal of the Philippines.

In 1905, Mr. Bliss, then treasurer of the national republican committee, was questioned by the insurance investigating committee regarding campaign contributions by big corporations, but nothing of a criminal nature was elicited.

In the spring of 1907, after the statements and letters of President Roosevelt and E. H. Harriman, he was again questioned, and said: "You can't generalize ancient history or ancient fiction. I have kept still for two years and I don't see my profit in saying anything now. What has passed is of the past, and that's an end of it."

Fiduciary Services
He served in many corporations as director and always with a fearless and painstaking care, that brooked no opposition. In 1902 he was selected by President Roosevelt as treasurer of the national fund for the relief of earthquake sufferers in the West Indian Islands, he was governor and treasurer of the New York hospital, member of the Pan-Atlantic congress, member of the New England Society of New York, on the executive committee of the National Civic Federation, member of the American Geographical society, Metropolitan Museum of Natural History and National Academy of Sciences, and was president and director of the Fourth National bank, trustee of the American Surety company, director in the Central Trust Co. and vice president of the New York chamber of commerce.

GAVE UP HIS LIFE

Driver Attempted to Save Others

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Fred N. Smith, of 25 Dudley street, Roxbury, driver of a delivery wagon for U. M. Strenbach of Howard avenue, Roxbury, lost his life in a vain effort to stop his horse, which ran away in Brookline about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The horse's bridle broke. Smith crept out along one of the shafts to reach the animal's head, and was thrown to the ground at the corner of Morris and Walter avenues. The wheels of the heavy delivery wagon passed over his body, and he lived only 15 minutes after the accident.

Two others narrowly escaped, a young lad named George Kentley of Walter avenue, who was riding with Smith, and Neal Connors, a well-known amateur baseball player, who at the risk of his life stopped the runaway some distance from the scene of the accident. The animal had turned into a crowded tenement house section where scores of children were at play in the streets.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

91 NEW MEMBERS WERE REPORTED LAST NIGHT

An enthusiastic meeting of the "Campaigners for 1000 Members" for the Y. M. C. A. was held last night at the association's rooms in Hurd street, and the first reports of the committees were very gratifying. A dainty supper was served, and a very interesting address was delivered by Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of St. Paul's church.

The evening opened with a supper served to the 20 committees, and after the meal, President Bowen rapped to order and called upon Mr. Hook for a few words on "Campaign Work." The speaker was brief but his remarks were very interesting.

Following this speech, the reports were then given, the young men's teams being distinguished by letters from A to J inclusive, while the business men's teams were numbered from one to 19. The individual reports were as follows:

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The meeting of Division 3, A. O. H. F. was held last night. President Daniel P. Reilly occupying the chair. Three new members were admitted and five propositions were received. The receipts of the meeting were the largest of any meeting since early spring, which goes to show that the members are getting interested again as the cool evenings come along. The financial secretary submitted his quarterly report, which showed the finances and membership to be in splendid form, and it was well received by the members. The smoke talk committee reported that State President John H. Dillon and County President James J. Harold would address the members on Wednesday evening, October 18. With local speakers of high character and vocal talent, an evening's entertainment to be remembered is assured.

THE CITY COUNCIL MET

And Took Action on Death of the City Messenger

Both branches of the city council met in special session at city hall, last evening to take action on the death of City Messenger Joseph E. Puttee.

The city messenger's desk in the aldermen's chamber was appropriately draped and on it reposed a large bouquet.

Aside from the drawing of jurors all regular business was suspended. The common council which was to have a regular meeting tonight voted to dispense with tonight's meeting out of respect to the deceased city messenger and to meet Friday evening instead.

Both branches met shortly before 9 o'clock and orders for a joint convention were adopted, both branches then assembling in the aldermen's chamber.

Chairman Gallagher presided. The roll call showed 25 members of both branches present.

The chairman spoke of the purpose of the joint convention. Alderman Barrett suggested that the members of the city government and employees at city hall meet at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon and go to the home of the late city messenger in a body, and remain there during the services. This was embodied in a motion, which was seconded by Alderman Connors.

Alderman Chapman offered an amendment to the effect that the mayor, the chairman of the board of aldermen, president of the common council, with two members of the upper board and three of the lower attended the services officially. The motion, as amended, was passed.

An order was introduced closing the offices at city hall, after 3 o'clock, Wednesday. It was adopted. The chairman named Aldermen Toupin and Daly and Councilmen Chapman, Fulton and Royal as the committee to attend the funeral officially.

The committee on resolutions was then named as follows: Aldermen Gallagher and Routhree and Councilmen J. J. Royal, Genest and F. A. Connor.

It was also voted to send a suitable floral tribute to the home of the deceased.

The joint convention dissolved at 9:20 o'clock.

Before adjourning the common council voted to dispense with the regular meeting and meet next Friday evening.

Arrangements for the session of the supreme judicial court were drawn by Alderman Jodoin, as follows: Bartholomew E. Hurley, 572 High street, physician; Thomas E. Lennox, 51 Mt. Washington street, liquor dealer; Patrick E. Devine, 62 Park View avenue, manufacturer, and William W. Daman, 423 Dutton street, machinist.

BURGLAR CAUGHT

HE WAS TRAPPED BY A WOMAN'S WIT

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Finding a thief in the front room of her lodging house at 462 Shawmut avenue yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Edith M. Allen, the landlady, neither screamed nor fainted, but after engaging him in conversation found an opportunity to slip out and telephone for the police.

At the station house the man gave his name as Archie McDonald, 18 years old, and said that he had just finished a year and a half at the Concord reformatory for larceny. He told a story of having loaned money to a roomer at the house and having called there to collect it. The key with which he opened the door he said had been lent him by this same person. The charge against him is larceny of articles belonging to the lodger in the room, valued at $2.95.

ENROLLMENT SYSTEM

Governor Foss Says That It Should be Abolished

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Concerning the abolition of party enrollment Gov. Foss yesterday afternoon gave out a statement in which he said:

"The democratic platform demands the abolition of party enrollment as a prerequisite of voting, and that a ballot system be provided to obviate the compulsion on a voter to declare his party preference.

"Senator Lodge says that the plan is foolish and dangerous. Of course Senator Lodge thinks so. If he had his way only those persons would be allowed to vote who were publicly tagged as stand-pat, high tariff, anti-revision, anti-reciprocity republicans.

"Mr. Luce, the republican candidate for lieutenant governor, naively says that the plan should not be in the democratic platform.

"In answer to that I say that the democratic party formed its platform without the assistance of Mr. Luce, and I stand on every plank of it, including the plan to abolish party enrollment.

"We believe in party responsibility, but a responsibility that depends for its support upon the conscience of the voters.

"We believe in grouping the party candidates in columns on the ballot, and allowing the voter to vote in secret for the candidates of only one party at primaries.

Possessed of Common Sense

"Mr. Luce goes on to remark: 'It is not a clear question. To open primary leads to a greater participation in the nominating process. Tradesmen, clerks, employees of all kinds, and many useful men who fear loss and usefulness or profit if they take sides in politics are kept away by the close primary. Yet on the whole, balancing gains and losses, I am personally inclined to prefer the plan under which party responsibility is maintained, and encouraged.'

"Evidently, the subject is not clear to Mr. Luce. I do not hold myself out to be an expert on election laws, but I am possessed of common sense enough to know that any law which excludes the tradesmen, clerks, employees of all sorts and many professional men from the nominating process, is not a good law and ought speedily to be amended.

"After fighting for years the democratic party has obtained direct nominations with, however, such unfair restrictions, like party enrollment, as the republican majority attaches to it.

"Now we want to get rid of party enrollment and appeal to the conscience of Massachusetts.

Not Afraid to Trust People

"When the republican party after the passage of the direct nomination bill attempted to saddle upon it the old enrollments as they existed since 1903, I vetoed that bill stating in my judgment an opportunity should be given to each voter in the commonwealth to enroll himself with whatever party he desires."

"My veto was sustained by the vote of 99 democrats against 105 republicans.

"I am not afraid to trust the people of Massachusetts with a secret ballot at primaries. The plan we propose does not lessen party responsibility. On the contrary it places party responsibility without fear of favor where it belongs in the hands of the people.

"The democratic party has inserted the plank in its platform and is in favor of it. The republican party has not because it is against it.

"The only way the voters of this state can have a referendum on the question is to vote for the candidates of the democratic party, which proposes it, and against the candidates of the republican party, which opposes it."

LEON CAPTURED

IT IS ALLEGED HE IS AN EXPERT COUNTERFEITER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—After a search across the continent and up into British Columbia, the secret service operatives yesterday captured Albert Leon, a Russian political refugee, as he was about to leave New York for South America.

Leon is alleged to be the head of an extensive counterfeiting gang which has flooded the Pacific coast with spurious $10 bank notes for the last year.

The secret service was advised yesterday that Leon was alleged to have perfected a process by which he photographed the face of a note that looked so much like surface printing that many experts declared it to have been printed from etched plates.

Two of Leon's alleged confederates, Rudolph Swanson and Fred Marneck, were arrested in Chicago two weeks ago. These two men are charged with passing some of the counterfeit money. Leon arrived in this country about three years ago. He took up a section of land near Beaumont, near Los Angeles, Cal., where it is believed the first spurious notes were made. In December, 1910, he went to Nootka Island in British Columbia and it was charged that he had his counterfeit work done out of his plant there.

Leon was also charged to have counterfeited the $10 United States Buffalo note and to have circulated it on the Pacific coast. The national bank notes are circulated principally in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Chicago and New York.

DIGS A FORTUNE

MAN IS ON HIS WAY TO WED WIDOW

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 10.—That he might win the hand of the woman he loved, E. J. Morrison, formerly a bookkeeper of Boston, slaved three years for a fortune in the Alaska gold fields.

Yesterday he passed through Los Angeles en route to the east, where he will claim in marriage Mrs. Grace Hazen, a widow with three children, who told him she would never marry a poor man. He has made a fortune, although he says the effort has cost him his health.

"I have known Mrs. Hazen eight years," said Morrison yesterday. "I fell in love with her at first sight. When I asked her to marry me a little over three years ago she told me her husband had been poor and that she was sick of a life of poverty, the struggle being too great."

"I would not take 'no' for an answer and she practically agreed that if I was worth a few thousand dollars or more she would marry me. I asked her for time to make it in and she agreed to wait for me."

"She has waited all right, for I have been corresponding with her ever since I have been in the north. The effort, although successful in a mercenary way, has practically cost me my health. I am glad my fight for a fortune has come to an end and that the time is nearing when I will claim my reward."

TO SEIZE FRUIT

U. S. GOVERNMENT TO ACT IN THE FLORIDA CASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The department of agriculture has prepared for confiscation of any shipments of unripe oranges or other unripe fruit from Florida.

Sec. Wilson, who has been in communication with the Florida agricultural authorities, announced yesterday that any attempts to ship artificially ripened fruit out of Florida or for "cross" unripe fruit on its journey to the north would be a signal for government action.

A shortage in citrus fruits has occurred throughout the north, with accompanying high prices. Much of this shortage is due, it is said, to the enforcement of the Florida law prohibiting the shipment of unripe fruit, and the Federal Pure Food decision, which prohibits the transportation of artificially ripened or colored fruit.

The agricultural department is prepared to act under the Pure Food law. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, which has jurisdiction over the matter, said yesterday that if advised of any such shipments, inspectors would examine the fruit at destination and take any necessary action.

"Fruit may be picked green and ripened by natural processes without running counter to the pure food regulation," said Dr. Wiley. "Green fruit ripened by the 'breathing process,' with the aid of chemicals or other means, in steam-heated cars, cannot be transported without violation of the Pure Food regulations."

NEW BUILDING

WILL BE ERECTED AROUND HOLLY PUMP

The water board met at city hall last evening and voted to call for bids for the contract of building a structure for the Holly pump on the boulevard, the bids to be in by October 18. The board estimated the cost of the building at from $14,000 to $15,000. The present structure is of wood and is not considered up to the standard for a pump of the value of the Holly type.

LARCENY IS CHARGED

Hancock is Held in Stock Cases

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Charles A. Hancock, aged 33, formerly of Brookline, who was engaged in the stock brokerage business with offices at various times on State street, Devonshire street and in the Old South Building, was surrendered by Atty. Clarence F. Edgerly in the superior criminal court yesterday afternoon at 4:30, appearing before Judge Sanderson. He was charged with four counts of larceny and pleaded not guilty. Bail of $1500 was put up for his appearance for trial.

The four counts allege larceny in stock deals. The complainants are Mary Dempsey of 123 Tremont street, who alleges she was swindled out of $2000; C. Milton Chase of 64 Stanford street, who claims he lost $105 the same way; John Neils of 103 Heath street, Roxbury, who claims to be a loser of $500 as a result of his meeting with Hancock, and Emil Anderson of South Framingham, who alleges he was duped out of $175.

Two of the counts allege the larcenies were committed late last year and two this year.

The police say that after this last count Hancock left town and nothing had been seen of him until he walked into the superior court yesterday.

Inspector George J. Farrell learned a few days ago that Hancock was coming back to Boston, knowing that a warrant was out for his arrest. For the last six months Hancock has been at the Porcupine Camp, Ont., and it is said he was advised by friends to come back to Boston and give himself up.

It is alleged in the complaints that Hancock secured money by misrepresenting facts and conditions. It is said he sold Chicago & New York Electric Air Line stock and later induced the people to return it to him, saying he had something much better which would mean big profits to them.

The complainants, it is alleged, sent deposits to Hancock, who also received their notes. After he had everything the customers saw no more of him, they declare. Hancock is well known in this city, particularly on State street and the curb. He figured in the late divorce suit almost a year ago, when he was arrested in the Hack Bay on a warrant which charged him and another man with attempted larceny by means of false pretenses. It was charged at the time that Hancock tried to secure $1400 from Henry B. Love, one of the principals of the suit. Hancock claimed he had valuable information in connection with the divorce, which could be used to the advantage of Mr. Love and the price for it was set at $1400.

FOUR BANDS

ENGAGED BY CITY FOR COLUMBUS DAY

The joint special committee appointed to attend to the city's part of the observance of Columbus day met at the mayor's office last evening. Councilman Delaronde presiding and Mayor Meehan, Grand Knight Henry J. Heaps and Daniel S. O'Brien of the Knights of Columbus being in attendance. It was voted to spend $500 for four bands for the day. These bands will participate in the city parade which will start from the South common immediately after the services in St. Peter's church.

MISS BARRETT SURPRISED

Miss Kittie Barrett was delightfully surprised last night, when about 50 of her friends gathered at the home of Miss Alice Woods in a banquet street and presented her a beautiful array of flowers and cut glass. The affair which was in charge of Misses Nellie Monahan, Alice Woods and Kittie Kall, was very successful, and the guests spent a pleasant evening.

TO BUILD UP

THE HEALTH

Take a Tonic for the Blood and You Will Be Surprised to See How Troublesome Symptoms Disappear.

Good health is more nearly a question of pure blood than most people think.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the system breaks down at its weakest point, perhaps the nerves or the stomach. But the trouble is in the blood and when the blood is restored to its normal condition the disease, whether of the nerves or stomach, is cured.

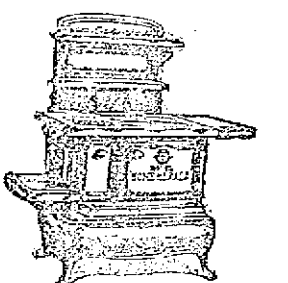

There can be no permanent cure of a trouble caused by thin blood until the blood is built up.

"I had not been well since my baby was born nearly three years ago," says Mrs. O. E. Wilde, of No. 1011 Clark street, Cincinnati, Ohio. "I doctored and doctored and nothing did me any good. My physician said I was going down hill as fast as I could go and that there was danger that I would go into consumption. I lost flesh until I weighed only 100 pounds. My stomach was out of order and I had no appetite or ambition. I had a constant cough and looked haggard. I couldn't sleep soundly, would wake up at night and couldn't get to sleep again. I was so short of breath that I couldn't walk upstairs without panting hard."

"The doctor told me to go to the country and while there my mother said, 'Why don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People?' I had had typhoid fever when I was twenty years old and the attack left me very nervous. I took the pills then and they did me a great deal of good. So I started on them again. Very soon I began to notice that I could sleep soundly at night. My nerves became stronger and my appetite became good. The cough left me entirely and so did the shortness of breath. I became strong and well and the neighbors all spoke about how healthy I looked. The color came back to my face and now nobody would think that I was ever threatened with consumption."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Send for our free diet and pamphlet on 'Diseases of the Blood.'"

THIRTEEN ARE INJURED

Passenger Train Crashed Into a Freight Train at Amesbury

AMESBURY, Oct. 10.—The train derailed at 6:19, bringing several scores of Newburyport, mostly young women, entered an open switch just after reaching the local freight yard last night, crashing into the heavy freight locomotive and causing injuries to 13 persons.

The injured:

Miss Yvonne Delaire, 24 Friend street, trampled upon by passengers and killed.

David Rickard, brakeman, Oak street, chest injured; condition serious.

Warren A. Wilbur, 6 Vine street, injured internally and possible fracture of the skull.

Miss Marjorie Pendergast, Winter street, injured internally.

Miss Gertrude Pendergast, Winter street; contusions and shock.

Benjamin A. Corrier, High street; injured internally and leg severely sprained.

Miss Winifred Lally, 32 High street; spine and arm injured.

Miss Winifred Lally, 32 High street; scalp wound in which 12 stitches were taken.

Baggage-master A. H. Tibbets, face cut.

Fireman Harold Tibbets of passenger train; cuts and bruises of body.

Miss Winifred Lally, 32 High street; bruises of face and legs and possible internal injuries.

Miss Nellie Hession, Friend street; bruises of body.

Conductor John H. Poulard of passenger train; face and hand cut and arm injured.

That no one was killed was remarkable, the impact was of such force. The forward part of locomotive 618, which was attached to the passenger train, was completely wrecked. Engineer Robert Kirby and Fireman Harold Tibbets escaped with bad bruises. The tender of their locomotive being driven by the momentum of the train into the cab.

The impact drove the long freight train backward, breaking it into two sections, demolishing a platform car midway of the train and forcing the rear section back several hundred yards into a number of freight cars at the end of the siding. The loss to rolling stock will be quite heavy as considerable damage was done to cars as well as the locomotives.

It has been the custom of many of the women to leave their seats upon approaching the freight yards and go forward to the door ready to alight as soon as the train reaches the station. The injured were all among these.

A freight locomotive had just pulled out of the round house where the accident occurred and after entering the main line backed to the siding where the long freight train was waiting.

Engineer Sawyer and Fireman Drew of the freight locomotive heard the warning whistle of Engineer Kirby and jumped in season to escape injury. Neither locomotive could be moved after the smash.

THE GERMAN BANKS

An Interesting Account of Their Concentration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The national monetary commission has just issued a translation of a new and especially prepared edition of Rießer's "The Great German Banks and Their Concentration." Dr. Jacob Rießer, the author, is a judge in the German courts and an honorary professor in the University of Berlin, and the volume of which this is a revision and translation has been known to scholars in the original text for several years, but has been altogether rewritten and brought down to date for the use of the commission.

It presents a comprehensive review of the growth and influence of the great private banks of Germany in connection with the industrial history of that country from 1848 to the present, and devotes but little attention to the railways and the semi-official institutions. Dr. Rießer calls attention to the enormous industrial development that has occurred in Germany during the last 60 years and to the striking concentration of various German industrial and banking institutions that has taken place during the same time. He analyzes the situation resulting from the rapid development and dangers of concentration, and the outlook for the future.

In the year 1848 Germany was just arising from the feudal system. The condition of the country may well be illustrated by the postal system. There was no less than 17 different independent postal administrations. Postage stamps were only introduced in 1850, and the number of letters received per capita was only 15 annually in 1842. Among the most important banking houses of the time were the Schenckenschanzbank (1814), the Disconto-Gesellschaft (1814), the Bank für Handel und Industrie (1853), the Mitteldutsche Creditbank (1856), and the Berliner Handelsgesellschaft (1856). During the first years of impetuous growth, some of the banks, like the Credit Mobilier, became interested too extensively and too rapidly in railway and industrial securities and enterprises, though thereby they doubtless rendered great and permanent service to the nation. During this period many of the banks made the mistake of paying excessive dividends of 10 per cent and upward. However, Dr. Rießer thinks that, despite their mistakes, the banks greatly aided the development of German industry during the period 1848-1870.

The industrial and commercial advance of Germany was even more rapid after the formation of the empire in 1871 than during the preceding period. One of the most important factors which influenced the development of industry and banking in Germany was the formation of "cartels." These are "associations founded by contract for certain periods of time of independent enterprises belonging to kindred branches of industry, or of branches of industry with nearly identical interests, the individual members of the association retaining their independence, but joining for the purpose of regulating production and sales according to the common point of view and in the common interest." Dr. Rießer says that trusts are to be distinguished from cartels because the former represent permanent and organic combinations of undertakings, while the latter are temporary and organic combinations of undertakings which have sacrificed their independence, and do not always belong to the same branches of industry, nor possess common interest." Dr. Rießer says that trusts are to be distinguished from cartels because the former represent "permanent organic combinations of undertakings which have sacrificed their independence, and do not always belong to the same branches of industry, nor possess common interest."

Dr. Rießer summarizes the present situation in banking as follows: "Out of a large number of independent banks there have been developed five powerful groups, comprising in all 41 banks. In this field, however, the process of concentration has by no means been completed."

Dr. Rießer enumerates five great combinations of German financial institutions, each headed by a Berlin "great" bank. The largest of these is the group of the Deutsche bank, which has a combined capital and surplus of about $200,000,000. Other groups are those of the Disconto-Gesellschaft, with a capital and surplus of about $40,000,000; the Dresdener bank, with $70,000,000; the Schenckenschanzbank, with $100,000,000; and the Darnstädter bank, with $75,000,000.

Dr. Rießer summarizes the present situation in banking as follows: "Out of a large number of independent banks there have been developed five powerful groups, comprising in all 41 banks. In this field, however, the process of concentration has by no means been completed."

SENTENCED TO JAIL

Man Was Charged With Receiving Stolen Property

Antonios Tsimiades was arraigned before Judge Bailey in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with receiving stolen property. It is alleged that he received $17 in money, a valuable stone and a note valued at $100 the property of George Ellipoulos. He was represented by Lawyer Bernard J. Golden of Woburn and denied the guilt. But after Lawyer Donahue, who appeared for the government, brought forth testimony that the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him sentenced to four months in jail.

According to the testimony offered there was a banquet in a coffee house in Market street on the night of August 23d and one of those present at the affair was George Ellipoulos. Owing to the intense heat and the smoke which filled the room he decided to remove his coat and in doing so forgot that he had placed his pocketbook in one of the pockets of the coat. Subsequently thinking of the pocketbook which contained about $15 in money, a share in a Greek bank valued at $100 and a precious stone, he searched his pockets, but the pocketbook had disappeared.

He reported the matter to the proprietor of the place but the guilty party could not be found. An investigation on the part of the police resulted in the arrest of Nicholas J. Zachares, who was charged with the larceny of the pocketbook. He was found guilty and sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction at the sitting of the superior court.

It appears that when Zachares was sentenced he claimed that he found the money and took it to his room and went down to the coffee house the next morning with the intention of returning it but got "cold feet" and returning to his room hid it. Later in the day he said he entered the room and found Antonios Tsimiades and Vasilios Pappavasiliou with the pocketbook. He claimed it and then the two men said that he stole it, whereupon he said that if they would keep quiet he would share the spoils with them, which it is alleged he did.

Tsimiades was captured by the police but Pappavasiliou is still at large. Tsimiades said that he saw the pocketbook but that he did not take it, neither did he accept any money as a bribe in order to keep him from speaking.

Messrs. Donahue and Golden argued at considerable length and during the course of Mr. Golden's argument he made a statement relative to the veracity of one of the witnesses for the government, whereupon Mr. Donahue accused Mr. Golden of having offered to settle the case for $50, but Mr. Golden denied the allegation. Then followed a wordy battle which necessitated the interference of the court. All but the lie was passed during the wordy battle.

She Threw a Glass
There was a red hot battle in Prince street last Friday night and as a result Rose Hill, otherwise known as Rose Vincent, was brought before the court on a complaint charging her with assault and battery on Marianne Belanger. Rose admitted that she threw a glass at the complainant's brother but that her aim was bad and it struck the complainant. Just for that she had to pay $5.

Found Not Guilty
Joseph Audette was charged with having assaulted Alfred Dufault, aged 12 years, but after the court heard several of the witnesses he found the defendant not guilty and ordered him to be discharged. The government swore in four witnesses, aged three, nine, eleven and twelve years respectively, and the complainant who was the oldest of the quartet testified to having been in a wrestling match with another boy in the rear of 113 Cheever street, which is in the rear of the house of the defendant. Further testimony showed that the complainant and another boy were having a fight when Audette separated them. Dufault's parents went to the police station where a warrant was sworn out, but the court after hearing two of the witnesses ordered the man to be discharged.

Case Continued
Joseph T. Coughlin was charged with breaking and entering and larceny, it being alleged that he stole a suit of clothes valued at $15 and a clock of the value of $125, the property of James A. Reardon, of Arkwright street. Lawyer Donahue appeared for the defendant and waived the reading of the complaint and asked for a continuance until Saturday, which was granted.

Assault and Battery
Joseph Phinard was charged with drunkenness and assault and battery on his wife, Agnes. He asked for a continuance until tomorrow and the request was granted.

Drunken Offenders
Patrick J. O'Brien was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

John Galvin was fined $5, there was one first offender, who was fined $2, and two simple drunks, who were released before the opening of the court.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

BUSINESS IS DULL

Local Automobile Business at Standstill

DEALERS ARE WAITING FOR NEW MODELS

It is Expected That the Automobile Business as Regards Sales and Repairs Will Be Much Brighter in a Fortnight and the Sales Next Year Will Be Far in Advance of Those of This Season

There is little or nothing doing in the line of the sales or repairs of automobiles at the present time and many of the managers of garages have "laid off" a number of their men. This doesn't really mean a depression in business for this is the time of the year when business is slack, for it is just between the end of the 1911 season and the opening of the season of 1912. Some of the local dealers have new models on exhibition, but they are few and far between for the demand for new models has been so strong that the larger cities are being supplied first, and cities the size of Lowell have to take their chances on receiving new machines.

The output of cars this year will be much larger than it was last year and for that reason the factories have been over-run with business and have been unable to make early deliveries. All of the local dealers who have not received their full quota of 1912 models are anxiously awaiting their arrival for as soon as the cars arrive it will mean a renewal of activity in business.

The 32d annual state convention of the Massachusetts State Firemen's association will be held at Lawrence on October 18, 19 and 20. The convention was held in Lowell last year and reflected much credit upon the local firemen. Lawrence intended to surpass the Lowell men, but according to reports the Spicket City is "shy" of funds and will have a difficulty in order to make both ends meet. One of the features at the convention will be the demonstration of what is known as a tractor, which is a self-propelled piece of mechanism consisting of an engine and two wheels which is attached to the front of any heavy piece of apparatus, such as ladder trucks and water towers. It consists of a single wheel motor device attached to the front wheels of the ordinary horse-drawn apparatus and obviates the use of horses, makes much faster time and is less expensive. The tractor apparatus is used in many cities and according to reports it has been a success.

The American Express company has just placed its fifth repeat order with the American Locomotive company for Alco trucks. This order calls for three more 3 1/2 ton trucks. With these three trucks the American Express company has 31 Alcos in its service. Twenty-five of these are used in New York city and three in Chicago. The trucks just ordered will be placed in the New York service.

FOUR MILLION TIRES

Will Be Used On Automobiles in 1912

Automobiles are built for both speed and comfort, speed on the race tracks and comfort on the roads and in the streets and this should be remembered. While the automobile editor of The Sun was passing through Moody street yesterday he saw no less than 50 cars go by. All with probably a few exceptions, were traveling at a high rate of speed; a speed which endangered the lives of many people.

Moody street is one of the main thoroughfares in and out of the city and the man at the wheel is wont to open the throttle wide and use the ruffian cut-out, much to the annoyance and danger of the people who are crossing the streets.

Moody street is, as a general rule, filled with children and there are many who never meet with an accident. The majority of machines drive through the street at a rate of speed which might be called reckless, and it is little less than a miracle that many people have not been killed. It would be well for the police to use some precaution which would result in the arrest of a few of the offenders as an example to others.

Ed. H. Mercer, who has the reputation of "going there and getting back" and who never meets with an accident, is hustling every day, but is anxious for more business for now and then there is a lapse. He has made many bookings for tours and weddings and during the past week has had many people on tours and it is unnecessary to say that those who have taken trips with "Ed" were perfectly satisfied with his service and will be constant customers.

Many Lowell people went to Boston to inspect the 1912 models of the Buick car. While the Boston dealers have received all of the new models, Lowell has not as yet had a chance to get more than one limousine which is now on show at the Lowell Automobile Corporation. It is expected that the local dealers will get their quota next week or the week after and then Manager Fred Emerson and Salesman Thomas B. Huxwick and Milo Hale will be kept busy making contracts.

THREE MORE TRUCKS

The American Express company has just placed its fifth repeat order with the American Locomotive company for Alco trucks. This order calls for three more 3 1/2 ton trucks.

With these three trucks the American Express company has 31 Alcos in its service. Twenty-five of these are used in New York city and three in Chicago. The trucks just ordered will be placed in the New York service.

HOUSE WAS BLOWN UP

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Four persons are believed to have perished at a suburb early today as the result of a Black Hand outrage when a big frame tenement, housing forty persons, was blown up and, taking fire, was consumed. The house was conducted by Edward Kolinsky, who, with his family and a large number of boarders, was asleep when a heavy charge of dynamite exploded at one corner of the building. The walls fell out and men were blown from their beds. A woman, with two children in her arms, stood for a moment at a window and then fell back into the flames. A similar scene was enacted when a man attempted to escape from one of the upper stories. Kolinsky recently received a demand from the Black Hand for $1500 but refused to place the money in the spot designated.

DEATHS

CHASE—The many friends of Mrs. Albert E. Chase will be pained to learn of her death, which occurred last evening at the home of her son, Harvey J. Chase, 1000 Central street.

Mrs. Chase was always held in high esteem by all her friends and acquaintances and was respected by all who knew her, and her death will be a shock to her many friends. She was a devoted member of St. Peter's parish, being a member of the Married Women's sodality, also president of the Daughters of Veterans, vice president of the Women's Relief Corps, and a member of the Ladies of Charity of St. John's hospital.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, a sister, Mrs. B. W. Carey of South Framingham, Mass., a son, Harvey J. Chase of this city, two daughters, Mrs. Bert Chandler and Mrs. William Carl, both of Chelmsford. Funeral notice later.

CURLEY—The many friends of Mrs. Bessie Curley, wife of John P. Curley will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred this morning at her home, 15 Varney street, after a protracted illness at the age of 35 years. Deceased was a devout communicant of St. Patrick's church, and a woman of many noble traits of character. Besides her husband she leaves a mother, Mrs. Josephine Shea, three daughters, Madeline, Grace and Esther J.; two sisters, Mrs. Gabriel Marchette of Wilmington, Mass. and Mrs. Thomas Riley of this city. The funeral will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the home and a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

MESHEA—The many friends of Mrs. Mary Meshea, nee 71 years, will be pained to hear of her death which occurred this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Boyle, 104 Mt. Washington street, after a short illness. She was an old resident of this city. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her daughter, Mrs. Theo. J. Boyle, one son, John P. Meshea, of Collinsville, and five great-grandchildren. Funeral notice later.

GENN—The many Lowell friends of Miss Louise Genn will be grieved to learn of her death in Malden on Oct. 1. Miss Genn was a graduate of the Lowell Normal school and for the past three years had been a teacher of the

FUNERAL NOTICE

LYNCH—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Lynch will take place Wednesday morning from her late home, 64 Pine street, at 9 o'clock. Funeral mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertaker Geo. B. McKenna in charge.

SORTEN—William Sorten died yesterday at the Chelmsford Street hospital. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker Molloy.

LAKE—Died in Everett, Mass., Mary Elizabeth Lake. The burial took place in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. W. George Mullin read the committal prayers.

FUNERALS

BROWN—The funeral of James Brown took place yesterday afternoon from the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, at 2 o'clock, and was largely attended. The bearers were Daniel Burke, Michael Burke, Richard Fitzgerald and George Moore. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. W. George Mullin read the committal prayers.

SWEETSER—The funeral of Marshall P. Sweetser was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, 200 Central street. The services were conducted by Rev. Asa Reed Ditts, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. Misses Elizabeth and Minnie Woodward sang several appropriate selections. The burial took place in the Edson cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

TYNAN—All that was mortal of the late Miss Elizabeth Tynan was tenderly laid at rest this morning in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the family. The funeral took place from the chapel of Undertaker Finnegan, 173 East Merrimack street. At the church of the Immaculate Conception at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Mr. Charles E. Smith rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was sung by Miss Margaret Knowles, and after the elevation "O Meritum Passionis" was sung by Mr. Charles E. Smith. The solos of "Ave Maria" were sustained by Mrs. Hugh Walker, and as the remains were being borne from the church the choir rendered "De Profundis." The services at the church were attended by a large number of friends, including several of the Sisters of Charity connected with St. John's hospital.

The bearers were Messrs. Thomas Holmes, William Cassidy, Patrick Daly and Hugh McQuade. The funeral cortege wended its way to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the prayers for the departed were read by Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O. M. I., pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I.

THE NEW CHARTER

Mr. Ouellette Objects to the 37 Wheeled Municipal Auto Truck

Mr. Clovis Ouellette, who was one of the speakers at the legislative hearing on the charter, when interviewed by a Sun reporter in regard to the new charter, made the following statement:

In discussing the new charter, one meets a certain line of argumentation which reveals on the part of otherwise intelligent people an ignorance of the nature of municipal government woful to contemplate.

The past long reign of practical politics seems to have rooted into the mind of a certain class of voters the conviction that a municipal corporation is not a business concern established to provide certain commodities as streets, sewers, water, police and fire protection, education, etc., but that it is a treasure-trove to be fought over by different political parties, races and creeds or by different sets of good fellows. Thus we hear a great deal as to how this, that, and the other race will fare under the proposed form of charter. This attitude is evident with reference to voting away money for the observance of certain holidays commemorating the anniversary of special celebrities of the divers groups represented at city hall.

It strikes the average citizen that, worthy as were all those great and good men during their lifetime, their claim on the public treasury should, by this time, be irretrievably restricted and that judging by their unselfish devotion to public good, when living, if they now should have a voice in the matter, they would peremptorily turn down the bare suggestion of such rackets.

Besides, the French, the Irish or the Greek questions and all other questions outside of the American questions are being discussed and settled in the countries whence came those races. And it seems, to the man of average intelligence and fairness that all those amongst us who are more concerned in the good government of this city than in the countries whence they came, should support the proposed charter.

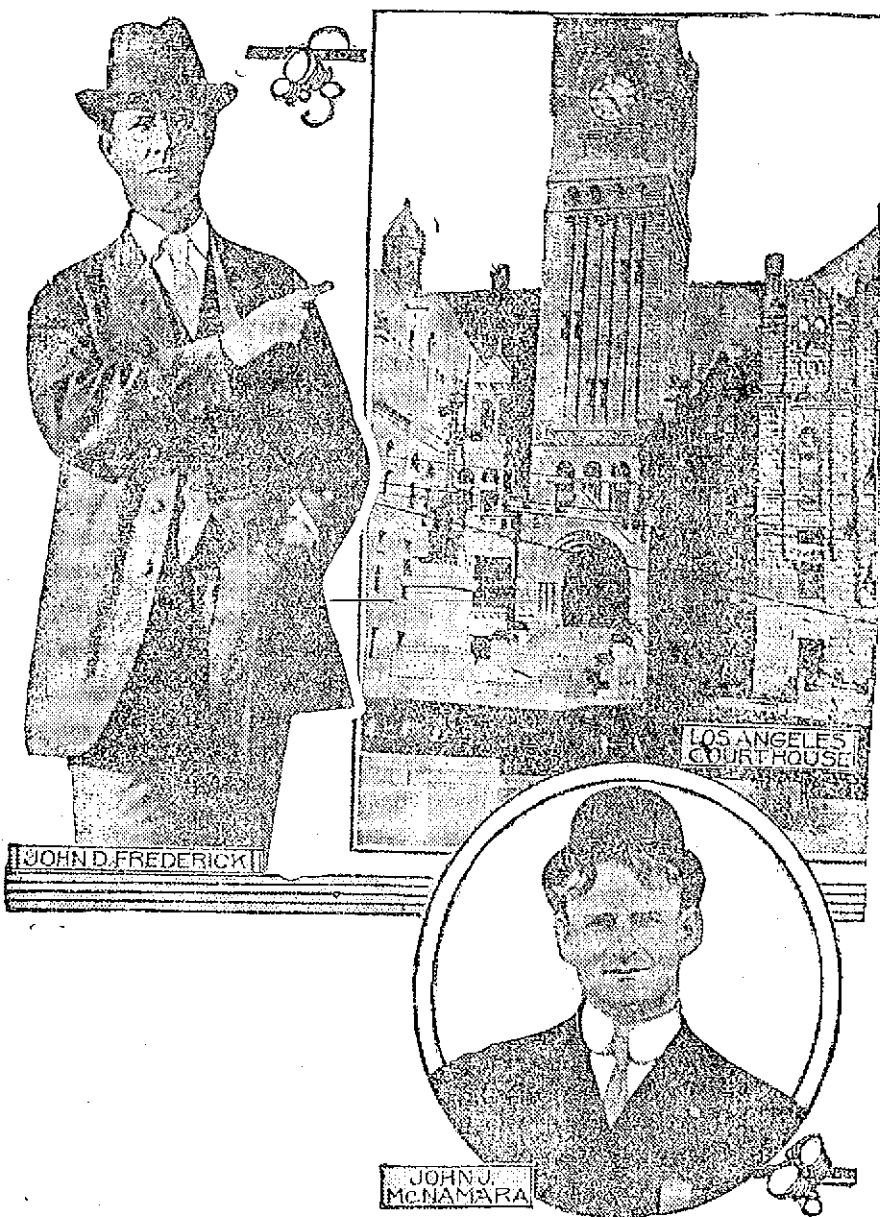

If the committee of sixty representing all races and interests agreed almost unanimously on the proposed charter, there is ample ground to expect that an intelligent electorate such as that of Lowell, will do likewise to its own profit and glory.

On that score, the attitude of an eminent ecclesiastic of Boston on the race question is worthy of imitation; the criterion of a man's fitness for office is neither his race nor his religion but his qualifications for the duties to be performed. The aim of the new charter is the selection of such men to manage the city's affairs: it is hard for all of us to elect nearly forty men, half of whom we do not know.

The municipal corporation differs but little from a private corporation in its raison-d'être and functions. Experience has taught that the latter is better managed by few men than by many. Why not take advantage of this fact in our public affairs?

The old municipal auto-truck with its thirty-seven wheels set at different

McNAMARA TRIAL

Could Not Proceed Today Because of Special Election

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 10.—Waiting for what promises to be one of the most momentous and protracted struggles in the history of criminal law, judge, vengeance and attorneys in the McNamara case have been kept busy today. A state-wide special election constitutional amendment stopped legal machinery that is designed to show whether either John J. McNamara, international secretary of the bridge and structural iron workers union, or his brother, James B. McNamara, is guilty of murder in connection with the explosion and fire which a year and nine days ago wrecked the Los Angeles Times plant and cost 21 lives.

For the deaths of 19 of these the McNamara are held on indictments.

Much of the time of the district attorney, John D. Frederick, was occupied in advising election officers and keeping that situation in hand. Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago, chief counsel for the defense, and his associates worked during the day but made no formal appearance. District Attorney Frederick was asked when he would determine which McNamara should stand trial first.

"Tomorrow at 10 a. m.," he replied. "It is not necessary to decide until then and it saves changing your mind."

M. E. CONFERENCE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 10.—Unanimously professing faith in the efficacy of the Bible as a solvent of the unique and subtle problems of modern life despite the differences of Scriptural interpretations resident from various kinds of "higher criticism" and multiple types of critics, the Ecumenical Methodist Episcopal conference today began the second week of its discussions.

"The church and modern life" was the assigned topic. It was treated under three heads at this morning's session: "Adaptation of the church to the needs of the modern life" by Rev. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist church in Canada; "Function of the church in the life of the community" by Sir George Smith of Truro, England; and "Inter-denominational co-operation" by N. W. Williams of the Methodist church of Australia.

Satisfaction was expressed generally by the delegates today that although the so-called provocative term "higher criticism" had figured conspicuously in ten hours of addresses and sharp discussion yesterday apparently no bitterness had resulted but that a healthy stimulation of interest had developed in the differing points of view. Although speakers holding an essential the liberal interpretation of the Bible were distinctly in the minority they impressed upon the conference the dangers of too much dissection on the part of those who believe in that method of seeking vital facts of Christianity. Rev. C. A. Yearwood of New Bedford, Mass., believed that John Wesley would be "amazed the first to readjust his mental views to the new ideas that have come to light in these days."

The marriage of Mr. Ovidio Demers and Miss Cecile Richard was solemnized yesterday morning at St. Louis church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of the parish. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock. There was a very large attendance at

Wolcast Insists on That Guarantee

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Ad Wolcast, the champion lightweight of the world, and Matt Wells, the English champion, will meet in a 10-round bout here October 28. Announcement lately that the bout had been arranged, followed by the bout being called off because of an insufficient guarantee for Wolcast, was renounced last night by Geo. McDonald, Wells' manager.

McDonald said that Wolcast has been guaranteed $22,000, to be placed in his hand before the night, and an agreement was signed yesterday for the men to meet, weighing in at 133 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the fight.

The bout will be staged at the Beach Palace Athletic club at Coney Island, McDonald himself is promoting the match.

In addition to his guarantee, the world's champion will receive 40 per cent of the gate receipts and a like percentage will go to Wells.

McDonald added that the large sums were made possible by a sale of moving picture rights for $25,000. Wells, he said, would also receive $10,000 guarantee, in addition to the percentage.

classified by the locals. There was a fair sized attendance and the enthusiasm displayed by the rosters of the home team was partly responsible for the effective work done by the Lowell boys.

Captain Leggat and Cawley of the local team were the star performers of the game when it came to the offense and they tore through the lines with remarkable speed, cutting off yard after yard.

Cawley scored the first touchdown the services as the young couple are well known in this city.

The young people were attended by their respective fathers, Messrs. Arthur Bennett and Arthur Bennett.

After the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 8 Hamel place, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. This was followed by a reception at night at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 22 Decatur street. Among the guests were: Mathias Stibben and Emily Oskull, both of the U. S. S. Rhode Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Demers were the recipients of many costly gifts. They will make their home at 4 Hamel place.

LOCAL DELEGATES

To Democratic Convention Notified After Show

John W. McVey and other delegates to the democratic convention held last Thursday received the notification of their election from the secretary of state today. It would appear that a great many things have been going by default in the office of Secretary Landry of late. The typographical blunders in the official ballots were innumerable, but this matter of notifying delegates nearly a week after the convention to which they were elected shows the inefficiency of the office.

STOPS COSTELLO IN THIRD

WOBURN, Oct. 10.—Before the Woburn A. A. in Lyceum hall last night Don Clancy of the North End, Boston, stopped Larry Costello of Charlestown in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout. Young Boyl of Lowell knocked out Kid Dumas of Charlestown in the fourth round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Referee Martin Clougherty stopped the final bout between Tony Lorenzo of Boston and Young Judreau of Somerville in the 10th. Lorenzo was in bad shape. He was knocked down twice in the ninth round and three times in the 10th.

JUDGE DEWEY SUES

Gov. Foss is One of the Defendants

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Henry S. Dewey, formerly judge in the Suffolk municipal court, filed suits against Gov. Foss and 29 others yesterday in the municipal court. Lawyers who read the declarations in the suits say that they are of a very unusual nature.

Those named besides Gov. Foss are Sec. of State Langtry, Atty. Gen. Swift, Dist. Atty. Pelletier, Mayor Fitzgerald, Corporation Counsel Babson, Clerk Manning of the superior criminal court, Joseph Walker, Allen T. Treacy, Sheriff Seavey, Chairman Hobbs R. Bailey of the board of bar examiners, Gardner P. Pearson, William C. Rogers, Clarence H. Cooper, Fred P. Fish, superintendent of public buildings, Ezra R. Thayer, David A. Ellis, Norman H. White and Elmer Stevens. The suits are for $150 each as damages for what Dewey terms an "untruthful and fraudulent edition of notes of the proceedings at trials in June, 1909, in the action between Mr. Gen. Dewey and others pending in the superior court."

GIANTS' CATCHER UPON WHOM MUCH OF TEAM'S SUCCESS DEPENDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—"Big Chief" Meyers, the Indian catcher of the Giants, is regarded by some as the pivotal player in the coming world's series, so far as the Giants' defense is concerned. When the Gotham club was in Chicago recently various critics suggested that much depends on whether the "chief" keeps his head. Undoubtedly that is very true, but it is also true of every player on both clubs. Meyers will have himself keyed up for the big series the same as the others, and if he gets "rattled" many baseball experts here will be greatly surprised.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The New York Sun, now the organ of the interests represented by J. Pierpont Morgan, is indulging its penchant for ridicule on Governor Foss. The Sun of late seems to have lost whatever sense of fairness it displayed in the palmy days of Charles A. Dana.

A Meriden, Conn., man is suing his former sweetheart for $12.53 spent upon ice cream, candy, suppers, trolley rides, buggy rides and other similar expenses incurred in his effort to win the girl's heart. He failed and wants to be recompensed for all he spent upon the girl. Let us hope he will not be able to "con" the court into believing him anything but a stingy "jay" and a poor loser. Nevertheless, it is just as well for a girl not to accept a young man's hospitality and entertainment if she cannot or will not accept himself.

Governor Woodrow Wilson appears now to be the strongest presidential possibility as candidate on the democratic side. Speaker Clark's stock has gone down since the defeat of reciprocity, because he was unfortunately among the number who voiced the false alarm concerning annexation that so stirred the Canadian patriots that they voted against their own interests in order to defeat annexation. Governor Wilson at the recent convention in his own state prevented an endorsement of his candidacy for the nomination, a little matter that shows his good judgment. He appealed to the convention to leave the future of Wilson to the democrats of New Jersey in the spring primaries. He will then get a popular endorsement such as the convention could not give.

STREETS IN A BAD WAY

Some of the streets of our city are in very bad condition as a result of the summer's wear. Perhaps the worst off are those on which the automobile traffic was greatest. The large auto truck is a great road destroyer. Some of the big motor trucks have solid wheels with anti-skid cross bars that dig into the ordinary road. As a result of this and other less severe wear, High street, Gorham street, Central street and many others are in very bad condition. If the holes are not filled before the winter they will prove very annoying if not actually dangerous. Some of the asphalt streets are also breaking into holes and require attention. The one street that is wearing best of all in the city is Pleasant street which was laid with the Warren Brothers' tar macadam some ten years ago, and does not at present show a single hole or break in the surface, despite the fact that the autoists made it their favorite route while passing in that direction.

THE DEFECTION OF WHITNEY

Henry M. Whitney had always very set views on the tariff and reciprocity, but we do not believe he would have flopped to the republican party had he not come under the silent influence of Senator Crane. This is an indication that Crane is getting busy. He is trying to pull the props from under the democratic opportunity, but this somersault will not cause any stampede to the republican camp. Mr. Whitney was boosted as a candidate for governor some years ago on account of his advanced stand on the question of reciprocity. Had his policy been followed at that time by the government at Washington reciprocity might now be a reality. Mr. Whitney says he cannot stand for the "slashing" tariff policy favored by the democrats as indicated by the three bills passed by congress in the recent session, but if Mr. Whitney has arrived at the point where he cannot approve a democratic tariff, he certainly belongs with the republican party, and the democrats do not want him. But in all probability Mr. Whitney has not stated all his reasons for joining the party of the trusts. The democratic party may miss his contributions perhaps, but the loss of his vote and his influence will not defeat Foss.

THE RUSH FOR THE EVENING SCHOOLS

The evening school sessions opened last night with the largest enrollment in the history of the city. The rush for the industrial school was unprecedented and, strange to say, most of all the female applicants wanted to learn some branch of dressmaking. The number was astounding, and Principal Dooley will be unable to accommodate the throng as he would wish. He has planned to divide them into classes in plain sewing, shirt waists, skirts and so on and give them as much time as possible, although he fears that it will be beyond his power to give some of the classes more than one night a week.

The registration at the evening high school is quite satisfactory, as it shows an advance over last year. The industrial school does not seem to have interfered with any of the other evening schools except in the single branch of manual training at the high school.

The evening textile school, soon to open, will afford opportunities for advancement in different lines, and it doubtless also will be well patronized. Now all this is highly gratifying, and it bespeaks a desire to advance on the part of the young people who spend their evenings in study that will enable them to rise. The simple fact that a boy or girl has graduated from the evening high school is proof of the possession of a fair education in the English branches. That a girl has graduated in the shirtwaist class at the industrial school will testify to her specific skill in a certain line and should be the means of enabling her to get a position in which she can apply that ability. So it is in every branch taught in the industrial school, the evening drawing school and the evening textile school. The youth of our city should appreciate these splendid opportunities provided by the city and the state. It is not many years since no instruction of the kind was available in this city. The young people of today may not fully appreciate what is being done for their benefit, and how very much better they are provided for than were their fathers in this matter of educational opportunities.

The question arises whether they will make the best possible use of the evening schools by laboring so as to make them the stepping stone to something higher. We are encouraged to believe, however, that our young people do appreciate what is offered them and that their diligence in study will prove that the expenditure for the evening schools of all kinds is one that will bring good results.

AN OPERATION FOR REPUBLICAN VOTERS

SEEN AND HEARD

All up for Columbus day. It is a day that every American whether native or foreign-born should celebrate.

The passing of City Messenger Patten removes from public life a popular, courteous and painstaking official. "Joe" was recommended to all.

Yesterday gave us a belated breath of the Indian summer which threatened to pass us up this winter.

Have you read the new charter yet? If not be sure you read it before you vote on it. Don't vote with your eyes closed.

The South common and the garden surrounding St. Peter's parochial residence present a pleasing spectacle to the eye these days with their carpets of purest green carpeted over with the variegated hues of the autumn leaves.

HORSE, DOG AND MAN

The horse and the dog had tamed a man and fastened him to a fence.

Said the horse to the dog: "For the life of me, I don't see a bit of sense in letting him have the thumbs that grow at the sides of his hands, do you?"

And the dog looked solemn and shook his head and said: "I'm a goat if I do."

The poor man groaned and tried to get loose, and sadly he begged them: "Stay!"

You will rob me of things for which I have use, by cutting my thumbs away!"

You will spoil my looks, you will cause me pain! Ah, why would you treat me so?"

As I am, God made me, and He knows best! O masters, pray let me go!"

The dog laughed out, and the horse replied: "Oh, the cutting won't hurt you, see?"

We'll have a hot iron to chop right on, as you did in your docking of me!"

God gave you your thumbs and all, but still, the Creator, you know, may tell us if we are not right!"

To do the artistic thing, as He did in furnishing me with a tail!"

So they bound the man and cut off his thumbs, and were deaf to his piteous cries:

And they seized the stumps and they viewed their work through happy and dazzled eyes.

"How trim he appears," the horse exclaimed, "since his awkward thumbs are gone!"

For the life of me I cannot see why the Lord ever put them on!"

"Still it seems to me," the dog replied, "that there's something else to do;

His ears look rather long to me, and how do they look to you?"

The man cried out: "Oh, spare my ears! God fashioned them as you see."

And if you apply your knife to them you'll surely disfigure me!"

"But you didn't disfigure me, you know," the dog declaredly said.

"When you bound me and trimmed my ears down close to my head!"

So they let him moan and they let him groan, while they cropped his ears away.

And they peered his looks when they let him up, and proud indeed were they!

But that was years and years ago. In an unlighted age!

Such things are ended now, you know; we've reached a higher stage!

The ears and thumbs had gave to man ear to his to keep and wear.

And the cruel horse and dog look on and never appear to care!

OF INTEREST TO FIRMEN

Salem News: Salem firmen are much interested in a device that was recently tried out in New York city and that proved a great success.

The device is a simple one and it seems strange that someone did not think of it before this late day. The tremendous force of the stream from the nozzle of the hose creates a suction which is utilized through a garden hose, thus bringing fresh air to as many as three men in a single stream. This air is breathed through simple appliances to the mouth and nose. This beats the old helmet idea all to pieces, as it is a success, which the helmet method never was.

PANAMA CANAL SCRAP HEAP

Brockton Times: When the French gave up work on the Panama canal, they left a great scrap heap what was then worth millions of dollars, as it stood, in engines, cars, machinery, etc. Although it became government property many years ago, the United States has used over a million dollars worth, has sold over $200,000 worth, and just accepted a bid of $15,000 for the balance, to be removed at the bidder's expense. Thanks, monsieur.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Providence Bulletin: If anything could make Mr. Frothingham's campaign hopes it would be the republican platform. The democratic platform is open to criticism on some points; but on the tariff it strikes a note as conspicuously right as the republican note is wrong. This is not the year to defend standstillism or advocate the kind of "downward revision" which would touch no one's pocketbook. It was especially futile for Massachusetts republicans to endorse the president's veto of the woolen bill, a measure which probably half the voters of the party approved. To talk about such a revision of the tariff is to invite a rebuff to undertake as "disastrous tampering with the prosperity and business of a great people" is to put the party on the side of reaction and alienate thousands whom the high cost of living has affected.

DIVORCE IS SOUGHT

Trouble Was Caused by "Cream Pie"

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Failure to determine and mutually agree before marriage what "cream pie" really is, was the cause here, according to Matilda Madeline McLeod, daughter of Chief Justice David J. McCrory of the Chicago municipal court, which has granted her divorce proceedings from her husband, Nell McLeod of Quincy.

Violent and incriminating charges have been brought by both in the Suffolk superior court. Charges were first filed by the husband under the date of May 17, 1911, and later dismissed by him Sept. 20 last, after the wife had filed her own charges under date of Sept. 8.

According to Mrs. McLeod, who is a young woman of 23, when she came to the city, she was met by her husband, who was then a young man of 23, when she came on from Chicago in 1906 as representative of the Multigraph Sales company at an exhibit at Horticultural hall she was introduced to McLeod, who is eight years her senior, by a mutual friend.

Mrs. McLeod admits the two fell so violently in love with each other that three days after the meeting she was introduced to McLeod, who is eight years her senior, by a mutual friend.

McLeod had placed on her finger, having already broken her engagement to a young man in the west.

For two years McLeod carried on a serious courtship, twice going to Chicago where his fiancée had returned, to see her and then marrying her at Chicago Nov. 23, 1908, he brought her back to live at various places in Boston and at Quincy as his wife.

"For four weeks after we were married all was love and honey," said Mrs. McLeod yesterday, "and then our first big trouble started."

"One night as I was preparing to receive some of our guests, at supper, the dispute came over cream pie. In the west we make our cream pie something like a custard, so when Mr. McLeod said I had cream pie on the table, I said, 'Why, no, that's cream cake.'"

"He contradicted me and maintained it was cream pie, but I stuck to it that it was cream cake."

"Finally Mr. McLeod said, 'By — I'm being driven crazy with all your women's talk,' and he said, 'I won't eat any of your old pie, anyway.'"

"I told him just what I thought of him, and said, 'If I married the man to whom I was engaged before I was married, I would have been riding in autos now instead of being kept by you in poverty.'"

"I packed up and went home to father in Chicago, staying three months before returning to my husband in Boston."

WOMAN ARRESTED

SHE IS CHARGED WITH BEING A SHOPLIFTER

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Meeting a middle-aged woman on Washington street yesterday whom she remembered having had arrested a year ago for shoplifting, Miss Edith Thompson, a department store detective, followed the woman into one of the big department stores on that street and placed her under arrest.

When the woman, who gave the name of Mrs. Mary L. Burbank, was searched at police headquarters goods valued at $30 were found on her in addition to $50 worth which the detective had taken from the store where she was arrested. An officer noticed Mrs. Burbank was trying to conceal a small brass check in her glove. The check was for a small traveling bag which she had checked in still another store, which contained various articles that brought the total up to $100. Marks showed the goods had been taken from four stores.

The police say that the woman, who is about 52 years old, is proprietor of a small store in Worcester. About a year ago, it is alleged, she was arrested in Boston for shoplifting and paid a fine of $100.

HATTIE LE BLANC

ACTED AS BRIDE MAID FOR HER SISTER

With Hattie Le Blanc serving as bridemaid and those about making it plain that she herself was to be a bride, too, ere long, Lillian Le Blanc, sister of the girl brought into the limelight through the Glover tragedy at Waltham, became the wife of Walter Sampson of West Arichat, Cape Breton, yesterday morning.

The ceremony was performed in the little Catholic church by Hattie's faithful friend at the altar, the Rev. Fr. Reilly, P. P.

Sampson first met Lillian Le Blanc during the East Cambridge inquisition her sister underwent, explaining to her the scope of the testimony for prosecution and defense, as she knew little English. Following her return to Cape Breton, the bridegroom of yesterday left her to follow her there, taking up his residence at Petit de Grat, a prosperous fishing village, the home of his childhood and but seven miles from West Arichat.

Friendship ripened into love, and now that marriage has followed friends of the young couple are remarking that it was a happy ending to a sad story. Hattie is paying Hattie every attention and the belief obtains an engagement announcement may be made shortly.

IF YOUR LIVER IS WRONG YOU ARE WRONG ALL OVER

A torpid, inactive liver goes hand in hand with constipation and is a chronic condition, one requiring a systematic, well-directed effort to overcome effectively and establish conditions of health and perfect body drainage.

Bloodline Liver Pills contain the elements needed to increase liver activity and muscular action, go accurately to the sluggish liver and bowels, restoring them to perfect action. They are composed of great vegetable agents, for the stomach, liver and gastric secretions, mucous membrane, circulation and bowels, and always give best results—they are Nature's own laxative.

Thousands of satisfied and grateful people have written us about the great benefit they have received from these pills. Here is one:

Portland, Maine.

Gentle—I find your Bloodline Liver Pills the most effective pill I have ever used. They cause no griping or constipative after-effect as most liver pills do.

Yours truly,

MRS. AMANDA RICHARDSON.

They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little vegetable pills will ward off many ills, never sicken, weaken or grip. To cure constipation, biliousness and sick headache in a night, use Bloodline Liver Pills. 25c a box from The Bloodline Corp., Boston, Mass.

KILLED HERSELF

Woman Cut Her Throat With a Razor

CONCORD, Oct. 10.—Giving her husband an excuse so that his surveillance of her would be relaxed, Mrs. Charles O'Neil, 35 years old, residing at 7 Bradford street in the Concord Junction section, killed herself yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat with a razor.

For the past three days Mrs. O'Neil had shown signs of acute melancholy, causing her husband to remain home from his work in a harness factory in order to prevent the woman carrying out expressed designs upon her life.

His vigilance yesterday was a little relaxed through the wife informing him she felt much better and he allowed her to enter one of the rooms unaccompanied. When he passed into the apartment a few minutes later, she lay dead on the floor in a pool of blood, her right hand still clasp the razor. Medical Examiner Walcott viewed the body. Mrs. O'Neil leaves two little girls, 3 and 5 years of age.

Health Means Happiness

Few Understand Nature of Their Illness.

"To be happy you must be in good health," said one of the specialists who are here in Lowell, for the purpose of introducing the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita" yesterday. "Yet," continued he, "there are hundreds of people in towns the size of Lowell, who do not live, but simply exist, and are not happy on account of ill health."

Leading the life of excitement, that most people lead, there is little wonder that the modern plague, nervous debility, has not even more in its grasp.

"Few understand the nature of nervous debility. They just don't know what is wrong with them. Unmindful of results, many go carelessly along never taking time to realize just how serious their condition may be."

Chief among the symptoms of debility are, nervousness, sleeplessness, stomach troubles, imperfect digestion, poor circulation, cold feet, headache, backache, listlessness and despondency.

"It is only during the past few years that there has been any apparent awakening to a realization that some means for fighting this dreaded disease must be found, but the effects of that awakening are felt today."

"The reports from those who have taken this new tonic, 'Tona Vita,' have proven that this malady cannot only be relieved, but can be positively cured."

"During the past few days," continued the specialist, "we have heard of people coming to us for the sole purpose of telling us how happy they are since they have regained their health through the use of this new tonic."

One man said: "I have come a considerable distance out of my way to tell you how pleasant I now find life, since I have gotten back my former health and strength."

"I had stomach trouble for over ten years caused by fermentation or gas. I would have a bad taste in my mouth almost immediately after eating anything. My heart would palpitate, I would be short of breath, have dizzy spells, and was growing very absent-minded. I was in a general run-down condition and was growing worse daily. About half of the time I could not work."

"When I came in here a few days ago," continued he, "I got a bottle of this 'Tona Vita' on the advice of a neighbor, but I doubted very much if it would do me any good. Since then I have taken not quite two bottles, and I feel an entirely different man. I am now able to work regularly and not feel pained out when night comes. I seem to always have a little reserve energy left. I venture to say that I spent over a thousand dollars in the last ten years for different doctors and medicines, trying to be cured, but all to no purpose until I started using this tonic. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine and hope that it will benefit many others as it has me."

The specialists who are introducing this new tonic, "Tona Vita," are located at the Hall & Lyon Drug Store, where they can be consulted every day during their stay here from 3 a. m. to 5 p. m.

tionless. Nine years ago came a request from the physician while paying $750 from the city treasury of Lowell, and this city paid no attention to the request. Nine years ago, gentlemen, the leading New York physician said that there have suffered and within these brick walls without proper medical treatment that would have been given them by this city. Thousands have come in there and a stage of sickness, recovered and the leading New York physician said today what kind of treatment and medical attention they received, you'll get the story yourself. During the past few years this department has been run too cheaply. The purpose has seemed to have been to get the most out of the city. We need at $10,000 more a year to carry on the work properly. The expenses of the department have been cut from $600 a year to $40,000, and the limit of economy has been overreached. There has been more concern in the city for the saving of the lives of the people. We have been more anxious to get along without this and necessarily for the purpose of making a favorable financial showing, instead of having those necessities for the service of the people of Lowell. We have been more careful to conduct the department as efficiently and judiciously as possible, regardless of what expense may be. It costs $10,000 more a year to run on the Chelmsford Street hospital and to carry it on right, than as

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Mirth and mystery hold sway at Keith's theatre this week for the bill is the strongest by far yet offered by this popular playhouse. Starting with the mystery the illusion "Monette" is all that has been said of it and perhaps more. The operator, Mr. Berol, who invented the illusion, does not claim to do anything through supernatural agencies but tells you he has a mechanical illusion which he defies you to solve. He presents his act on a brightly lighted stage and invites you to go on the stage and act while the act is being presented. The act consists of an ordinary white "blackboard" suspended perpendicularly from the fly gallery swinging like a pendulum from two ropes. It does not touch the floor of the stage and the operator goes under and around it to show that it is not connected with any wires. He takes a tennis ball and slaps it against the board and then commands it to write, and away goes the ball, up and down, in and out, writing different words. The operator goes down among the audience and without returning to the stage commands the ball to write different words suggested by the audience, which it does without delay though the operator is not within reaching distance of it and the vigilance committee of the audience can see no wires or strings. It is one great act and made a big hit with last night's audience. So much for the mystery. For mirth there are two acts at least that positively stand at the top of funny vaudeville acts. Cook and Lorenz, the millionaire tramps, are act on a thoroughly staged and they present 57 varieties of funny stuff without a moment's let-up. Coming out as a couple of tramps they sing a husky voiced duet and then start in with a little of everything. Ward and Vokes in their palatial days had nothing on this pair while they have something on Percy and Harold for their act brings in piano playing and grotesque dancing that Percy and Harold never attempted. The audience simply held on to its sides while "Esmeralda" and "Constance" went through their little stunt. Of all the kid comedians that are now shining in vaudeville none can compare with little Bud Heim, who with his pretty little sister Nellie, gives a comedy act that is a whole show in itself. George Cohen in his funny boyhood days was a tragedian compared with little Bud Heim. Their act opens with a pretty song by Nellie Heim with Bud chiming in behind the scenes. Bud has a sweet voice and the audience expects to see a daintily attired Sunday school kid come out and say sweet nothings, when along comes Bud in the most grotesque make-up imaginable topped with a wig of fiery whiteness and then Bud cuts loose and no village cut-up ever thought up more funny stuff than does Bud. He can sing, dance, turn flips, do a love stunt, talk fight with the orchestra leader and keep busy generally while the audience once more grabs its sides and roars. These three acts alone are an entertainment but they are not half the bill for the Dore Brothers are seen in the most sensational and withal graceful acrobatic act ever seen here. Radiant Redie Ferman is radiant indeed. She can sing, dance and imitate in charming manner. The Marquards, man and woman, give an act known as the walla crazy showing the ends to which the craze for walking may lead a couple of enthusiasts and again it is to laugh. They wait over and under everything without losing the tempo and wind up by walking not on but into the carpet on the floor, winding themselves up in it and rolling off the stage. "The Club Woman," an excellent satire, is presented by Carolyn Bracklyn and William Wilson, and company and is a delicious one-act comedy of real wit and humor and without horse play or coarseness. Indeed the bill is the strongest yet presented and should pack the theatre.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A succession of "Long, lingering laughs," as promised by the management of the Opera House, was the reward of those who last night attended the performance of Philip Bartholomae's three-act comedy "Over Night." "Over Night" comprised the length of time during which two pairs of "Just weds" accidentally were forced to change partners. The change was, naturally, exasperating to the four young people concerned but to the audience it was the source of the most droll and laugh-provoking amusement. Laughter and nothing else reigned over the house from curtain-rise to curtain-set.

The abilities of the members of the cast are, in their line, of the first order. They should, through generous attendance be encouraged. Such encouragement they merit not only because of their excellent work but because of the entertaining and clean nature of the comedy itself.

A summary of the plot follows: Georgina Kettle, a suffragette, her husband, Richard, a much abused little man, Elsie Darling, a pretty young wife of the dependent "dying vine" species, Percy, her newly married husband, Al Rivers, a happy-go-lucky college graduate who is working, the girl, Elsie, Caroline Powers, and her maiden aunt, lady with hobbles, meet on a Hudson river steamer at Poughkeepsie. The Darlings and the Kettles are enjoying the first few hours of their honeymoon. These are unappreciated by the accidental leaver of the wharf of Mrs. Kettle and Mr. Darling. However, the other pair, Richard and Elsie, decide, as the only thing possible, to set toward one another as husband and wife. After many amusing and, to them, embarrassing encounters with friends on the boat, they arrive at a hotel up river. Here they discover that no train returns to

THE NEWLYWEDS IN "OVER NIGHT"

Poughkeepsie that night. Ordering rooms they register. At the same hotel Al Rivers, Miss Powers and her aunt with other friends arrive. Miss Powers is married by a married friend that, through information gathered, Al is only a money-hunter. The latter, in a pretended palm reading by Caroline, is admonished to relinquish his matrimonial scheme. Realizing now that he loves her, he, on her retiring to her room, tells of his love in a note which he slips under what he supposes her door, begging that should she care for him, to wear violets at breakfast. The door under which he slips the note is, through a misunderstanding, that of her maiden aunt, Mr. Darling and Mrs. Kettle arrive and, in the same ludicrous predicament as the other couple, register. All retire. In the morning the aunt appears decked in violets. Is informed of the real state of affairs by Al, threatens to disinherit her niece, should the latter return Al's affection, but all to no avail. Meanwhile, Richard and Elsie, to quell suspicions entertained by the maiden lady and a friend, publicly are very much in love. This is witnessed by Mr. Darling and Mrs. Kettle, who become enraged and a general row follows. Mr. Darling engages a traveling hypnotist, who by exercising his powers on Elsie makes her explain unconsciously and thereby clears the mix-up. Everything being explained satisfactorily the newly weds re-change partners. Forrest A. Young as Richard Kettle, played the milk-fed, subjugated husband in a real, therefore a mirthful manner. His lip, his deferential bearing and his commanding qualities portrayed the lusty hen-peck in a most ludicrous manner, while the sudden turn-about in his bearing at the hotel, when he "came back" on his wife, was comical to the extreme. Francine Larimore, as Mrs. Darling, enacted the young girl-like wife, who imagines her husband the one and only as truly as if she has perfected her part in the school of experience. Her adoration of her husband and her rallery directed at Richard, the "faint-hearted," who, in such a plight, proved the wrong man in the wrong place, demonstrated her abilities as one of the most mirth-producing and charming comedienne seen here in many a day.

The name "Percy," if the connotation attached to it is at all correct, was a misnomer when inflicted on Mrs. Darling's hubby, for he was a strapping and energetic man. The firmness with which he rebuffed Mrs. Kettle would make a mummy grin. This role was looked after in a splendid manner by Mr. William Conklin.

If a militant suffragette is as domineering and as strong-minded as that shown in Margaret Williams' impersonation of Mrs. Kettle, then dash for the cyclone cellar when one appears. Miss Williams acted her part finely. Joseph Dillon as Al Rivers, a devil-may-care, handsome young man, by his amusing and entertaining portrayal of the role whereby the fortune hunter develops into the lover, showed that he can dispense comedy and make love with the best of them.

The clerk of the country hotel, a lively lad of half-impatient and amiable disposition was unto all the latest "stunt" from New York and would match his wit with whoever applied for a room. Robbins Bligham was the lad.

Last but not least, Barney Johnson, a real colored steward, secured, it is not unlikely from the Pullman company, made the audience roar by his ever-repeated answer "On de fish, sah."

The other members of the company enacted their parts in a very efficient manner. The cast:

Caroline Patschen.....Florence Coventry
Caroline Powers.....Mabel Hitley
Purser.....Jas. Dillon
Al Rivers.....Francis J. Gillen
Steward.....Barney Johnson
Mrs. S. Rutherford Cleveland.....Lulu Konari

Georgina Kettle.....Margaret Williams
Richard Kettle.....Forrest A. Young
Elsie Darling.....Francine Larimore
Percy Darling.....William Conklin
Hotel clerk.....Robbins Bligham
Prof. Diggs.....Wm. Collington
Porter.....Dan. Tucker

"Over Night" continues here tonight and tomorrow night, with a matinee tomorrow.

THE SPENDTHRIFT

Local theatregoers have a treat in store for them in the long looked for production here of "The Spendthrift," the latest play by Porter Emerson Brown, who wrote "A Fool There Was." This drama has proven a sensation the country over since it left New York, where it remained for five months at the Hudson theatre, delighting large audiences of New Yorkers and visitors to the metropolis and defying even summer heat in New York, which drove all else but the lightest musical comedies and vaudeville shows to cover. The entire New York production of this play will come here intact.

A GIRL OF THE MOUNTAINS
O. E. Wee's new version of Lem B. Parley's novel drama, "A Girl of the Mountains," will be seen at the Opera House on Thursday, Oct. 12. The story tells how Nellie Bonn was kidnapped while but a baby, for revenge. She meets Richard Thurston and is led astray by him. He leaves her in her mountain home and returns to the city for Lambert, who she meets and loves. Victor Lambert, he proposes, but Nellie hesitates owing to the one secret of her life. Her friend, Roy Vernon, knowing all, advises her to be happy. She accepts Victor, but Richard Thurston learning of this tells Victor for Lambert that Victor breaks off his engagement with Nellie. It will be presented with a competent cast and complete scenic production.

NAUGHTY MARIETTA

At the Opera House on Saturday, Oct. 14, matinee and night, the new comic opera, "Naughty Marietta" will be presented.

The story concerns the adventures of the Countess Marietta D'Alema, an Italian maiden of noble lineage, who, rather than remain as a pupil in the Parisian convent and submit to an objectionable marriage which her parents have arranged for her, disguises herself as a casquette girl and is sent to New Orleans at the command of the king of France to become the wife of a French colonist. On arrival she discovers all matrimonial advances made by her husband and the other rough settlers and falls in love with Captain Richard Warrington, a forest ranger and woman-hater. How the mischievous little runaway eventually overcomes his aversion to women and is wedded to him, develops many dramatic and humorous situations.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

If you have the blues or feel out of sorts, don't go to the doctor, try the Academy first, for it is a sure cure. The comedy Italian Trio, the head-line act for the first three days, Miss Blossom, a dainty character change artist, and Stuart and Hall are the other offerings. If these don't effect a cure the four reels of the latest and best photo plays are bound to.

THE ANTI-TRUST LAW

Is Again Before the Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—After striving for nearly two years to interpret the Sherman anti-trust law in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases, the supreme court of the United States was brought face to face, on this, the first day for argument of cases in the new term, with the self-same Sherman anti-trust law.

The tobacco case was the last case decided at the preceding term of the court, ending May 29. A so-called hard coal case, another governmental trust busting suit, was to be found at the head of the list for consideration today.

AVIATOR RODGERS

RESUMED HIS FLIGHT TO THE COAST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 10.—Aviator Rodgers resumed his coast to coast flight at 8.35 a. m. in fine weather conditions. He departed toward Kansas City, changing the course from that originally planned, which included St. Louis. Rodgers is within a few miles of the American land distance record made by Harry Atwood recently in his flight from St. Louis to New York.

FOREIGN MISSIONS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 10.—Missionaries, Congregational preachers and laymen to the number of 400 are in attendance at the 1924 annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for foreign missions, which opened a four days' convention today. The ministers and laymen came from as far as Maine and Hawaii to hear reports of the year's work, to listen to 25 of the 60 or more missionaries home on furlough, and to the addresses of leaders in the work.

Among the prominent missionaries present was the veteran, Dr. J. K. Greene of Constantinople, who for nearly 50 years has watched the dramatic events of Turkish history, and Dr. Charles Goodrich, who has seen a like term at Cebu and Manila, Peking. Among the speakers from this country are A. J. Lyman of Brooklyn, Rev. A. Z. Conrad of Boston, H. A. Stimson of New York and President Edward Eaton of Detroit college.

The report of the treasurer, Harry Wiggin, announced the receipt of a million dollar gift to the board as a memorial to D. Willis James by his family, the fund to be known as the D. Willis James Foundation.

JACK CHAGNON

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Big Jack Chagnon, a former Lowell favorite with theatre-goers, made his re-appearance on the local stage at the Hathaway theatre last evening when he opened in the leading role of "Texas," a charming western comedy drama by William Rossau. It seemed good to see the big fellow once more and hear his resonant voice and the fast-sized audience present welcomed him back in a manner that left no doubt as to its sincerity. The cast was as follows:

Col. Buck West.....Mr. Harry Arnold
Jack Dallum, "Freshwater Jack,".....Mr. Jack Chagnon
Lord Angus Trevor.....Mr. LeRoy Clemmons
Corpus Christi.....Mr. Dan McCabe
Pasquale.....Mr. Chas. Stevens
Bowie.....Mr. Wm. O. Walsh
Sam Sorrell.....Mr. Chas. Crynbelle
Oklahoma.....Mr. Donald Meek
Mrs. Peppercorn.....Miss Maria Hunt
Mrs. West.....Miss Marjorie Williams
Lady Cecilia Trevor.....Miss Louise Langdon

Texas.....Miss Marie Horton
"Texas," while admitting of some gun-play, for it wouldn't be a western drama without the shooting horns, is not on the blood and thunder variety but brings in a large amount of comedy and not a little romance, both of which features are capably carried out by Mr. Meek and his clever company. "Texas" is a charming daughter of the west living on a ranch with her father and in love with "Jack Dallum," otherwise called "Freshwater Jack," the pride of the rangers. Along comes an English lord accompanied by his pretty sister, who also falls in love with Jack. A greaser, named "Pasquale," discovers gold on the ranch of "Texas" father and with the English lord conspires to get the ranch away from the old man. They are about to succeed when their scheme is thwarted by "Jack."

As "Texas" Miss Marie Horton makes a most lovable daughter of the plains and is most attractive in her cow-girl attire. Her acting was faultless and she was the recipient of much well merited applause. Miss Langdon as usual was most captivating and gave the role of "Lady Trevor" in most graceful manner. One had to look twice to discover Donald Meek among the wild-looking rangers that crowded the stage but once the fun began he was speedily recognized as "Oklahoma," who has a little love affair of his own on the side. Mr. Chagnon gave an excellent interpretation of the role of "Freshwater Jack," while Mr. Stevens as "Pasquale" was faultless and his stage fall brought forth the plaudits of the gallery critics who go strongly for stage falls. Mr. LeRoy Clemmons, a new member of the company, made good as Lord Trevor while the other members of the company were seen to good advantage. The play is staged and presented under the personal direction of Mr. Meek and was finely staged. The Hathaway orchestra gave a particularly pleasing bill including the popular descriptive "Hunting Scene." Next week the Donald Meek stock company will present "The Lost Paradise," a beautiful story of the battle of capital and labor.

AN EARTHQUAKE

RECORDED ON THE SEISMOGRAPH AT BROOKLYN COLLEGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—An earthquake, probably not more than 1000 miles distant and of considerable magnitude, was recorded this morning on the seismograph at Brooklyn college. The record began at 8.19 and continued until 8.53 with the maximum disturbance at 8.32. The strongest movement was in the north-south direction. The disturbance was considerably more severe than that recorded by last week's shock in Haiti.

THE PAYROLLS PADDED

Six Employees of New Haven Road Placed Under Arrest

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Six employees of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. Co., consisting of engineers and firemen, were arrested today on a charge of padding their payrolls. Most of the men were employed on the Taunton Division.

The men under arrest are Edward Atcherly of Winthrop, timekeeper, George B. Blair of Dorchester, engineer; Arthur A. Hommel, South Boston, engineer; John Murray, Dorchester, fireman; William A. Sears, South Boston, fireman, and Arthur Blair of Dorchester, fireman.

It is charged that the men entered into a conspiracy to defraud the company of $2000 through the assistance of the timekeeper, who is charged with making false entries.

BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE

BAR HARBOR, Me., Oct. 10.—The 40-foot speed boat Wids, built at a cost of $4500 for Alessandro Sabbi of New York, one of Bar Harbor's summer residents, and purchased six weeks ago by William Keith of this place, was burned to the water's edge and sunk in the harbor today by a fire originating from an explosion of gasoline. Captain William Jordan and Mr. Keith, who acted as engineer, both jumped overboard in great haste and were picked up by a rowboat. One of Mr. Keith's arms was injured in getting overboard and he was slightly burned about the face. Captain Jordan was not hurt. Mr. Keith was just starting the engine when it "back-fired" and flames were communicated by some gasoline from the engine pit to the gasoline tank. The boat was well insured. It was capable of making 30 miles an hour.

RETURNS OF STATE PRIMARIES

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Complete returns of the state primary vote of Sept. 26 have now been filed with the secretary of state. The work of tabulating the vote for the head of the ticket was being pushed today and at the secretary's office hopes were expressed that the official announcement of the vote for governor would be ready by tomorrow.

TO UNCLUG THE PORES REMOVE STIFLING SKIN

"Clogged pores are the cause of many complexion difficulties," according to Dr. Herman Ward. "This condition makes the skin coarse in texture. It interferes with elimination of waste matter, producing a muddy or blotchy complexion, eruptions and other defects."

To open and cleanse the closed pores there is nothing more effective than ordinary mercurized wax, used as you would cold cream, but not rubbed in. It should be applied at night and washed off in the morning. Mercurized wax, to be had at any drug store, will also remove the effects of the condition referred to. That is, it removes the undesirable complexion itself, with its disagreeable marks. Possessing a peculiar absorbent power, it flakes off the soiled skin in minute particles, but so gradually there is no irritation or inconvenience. It is recommended in preference to cosmetics, as the new complexion it reveals is a perfectly natural one."

Lowell Textile School

EVENING CLASSES OPEN OCT. 16, 1911, AT 7 O'CLOCK

Examinations and registration Thursday evenings, Sept. 28th and Oct. 5th, and Friday evening, Oct. 13th, at the school at 7 o'clock.

CHARLES H. EAMES, Principal.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully I, Albert S. Tice, do hereby certify that I am the husband of Mary A. Tice, now of New York, in the County and State of New York, at said Lowell, on the seventh day of March, A. D. 1909, and thereafterwards, and that said Mary A. Tice, being of legal age, lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at said Lowell; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Albert S. Tice, being wholly regardless of the same, at said Lowell, on or about the first day of January, A. D. 1907, utterly and cruelly deserted your libellant, which said desertion has continued from said first day of January, 1907, to the present time, being more than three years next at ending the filing of this libel. And said Albert S. Tice, at said Lowell, at divers times has been guilty of cruel and abusive treatment toward your libellant, and said Albert S. Tice, being of sufficient ability so to do, grossly, wantonly and cruelly refuses and neglects to provide suitable maintenance for your said libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and said Albert S. Tice, and your libellant further represents that there has been born of said marriage three children, to wit, Florence, age ten years, Alvin, age nine, Margaret, age eight years, and that your libellant prays that she be given the care and custody.

Dated this twenty-third day of September, A. D. 1911.

MARY A. TICE.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex, ss. Superior Court, Oct. 10, A. D. 1911.

Upon the libel aforesaid, it is ordered that the libellant notify the libellee to appear before the Justices of said Court, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of November next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of the order thereon, to be published in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, once a week, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said last mentioned day, and that an attested copy of said libel and order thereon be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, that he may then and there show cause, if any he have, why the prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.

A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.

Attest,

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS READY FOR A HARD DAY'S WORK

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 10.—President Taft spent the night here and rose refreshed for a hard day's work which was to include two speeches in Seattle and Tacoma before large audiences, a visit to the Puget Sound navy yard and a steamer ride to Tacoma. His first two engagements were a breakfast with Congressman Humphries and participation in the christening of his grand nephew, Charles Taft Snowden, 11 weeks old. Later the president, with a military escort, left the hotel for a parade through the business streets, which were gay with bunting. The high schools and the state university dismissed their students who mingled with the street throngs and made the air ring with their cheers.

At noon the president addressed a great open air meeting on the vacant square at Fourth avenue and Jefferson street. Immediately after the meeting the president went to the residence of former Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and ate dinner with a dozen other guests. From the home of Mr. Ballinger, the president went to Breunerton and then to Tacoma.

A big public meeting in Tacoma tonight will end the day's work.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE
President Harvey B. Greene and Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board of trade are attending the annual meeting of the Massachusetts state board of trade at the Hotel Vendome in Boston today. There was a large attendance and considerable information of interest to the community was referred to and many measures of importance adopted.

TO TALK ON CHARTER
The Brotherhood of the Grace Universalist church will meet Thursday night at the church in Princeton street and the principal matter to be brought to the attention of the members will be the revision of the charter. The speakers will be Principal Henry H. Harris of the Varnum grammar school and William N. Osgood, Esq., the latter being one of the most prominent advocates of the charter. It is expected that a general discussion will follow the addresses.

AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Plans for the reorganization of the American Tobacco Co. were still under way by officials of the company today. Indications are that they will not be submitted to the United States circuit court for several days. W. W. Butler, counsel for the American Tobacco Co., said:

"Our plan will not be filed with the court today and I cannot tell as yet when it will be filed."

PROPER WAY TO SHAMPOO

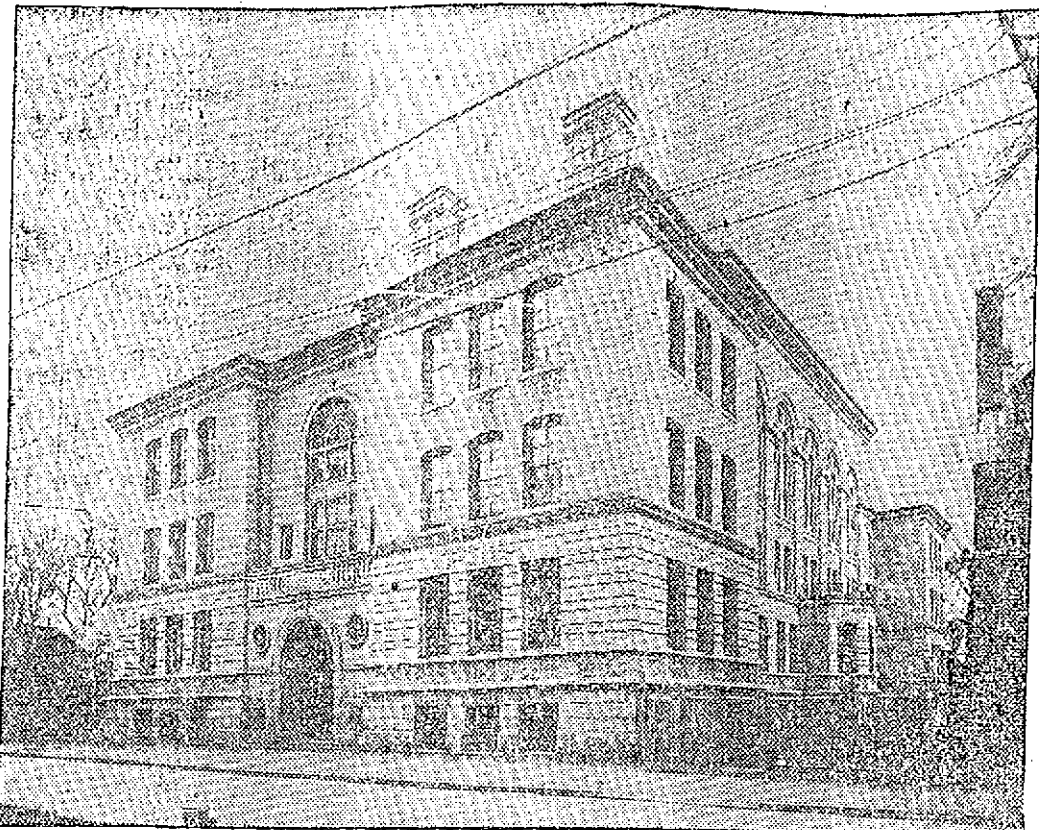

In an address before a large audience of beauty seekers today, Mrs. Martin, the famed authority on such matters, said:

"Common sense teaches us that the hair and scalp cannot be thoroughly cleansed of dirt, excess oil and dandruff without using water. And yet it is a common mistake that most women make in using soap in any form for shampooing. The woman who shampoos with soap soon notices her hair losing its gloss, splitting at the ends, becoming brittle and thin."

"These troubles can easily and best be avoided by using as a shampoo, one teaspoonful of canthox dissolved in a cup of hot water. The hair will rinse easily, dry quickly without streaking, and becomes brighter and healthier. Many hair-dressers have adopted this shampoo with excellent results. It seems to possess every quality of a perfect shampoo."—Denver Call.

EVENING SCHOOLS

THE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL

Opened For the Term Last Evening With Large Attendance

The evening schools of the city opened last evening under most auspicious circumstances, the attendances on opening night being up to the average and up to the expectations of the school officials.

Great interest centered in the opening of the evening sessions of the industrial schools in the Morrill and old Bartlett schools and at these the registration was up to the most sanguine hopes of the most enthusiastic promoters of the new school.

The opening of the school seems to have pleased everyone in Lowell, the school board, city council, teachers and public. The only breath of opposition to the industrial schools was that they would draw away from the high school. Principal Irish did not believe that such would be the case and subsequent events have proved that his judgment on the matter was good, for the day high school opened with 1350 pupils, an increase of 30 over last year, while the evening high school opened last evening with an attendance of 645 out of a registration of 701. While it is not to be understood for a moment that the industrial school is an institution for high school delinquents it is a fact that there are many children whose parents have the means to permit them to go to school who do not take kindly to book instruction and hence make poor scholars at the high school, who will get along finely with the practical education afforded by the industrial school and these are to be greatly benefited by the school. While in planning the courses to be taught in the industrial school the trade of plumbing was not considered by the school committee, after the matter got under way the Master Plumbers' association of this city petitioned the school board to include a class in plumbing in the course at the industrial institution. This the school board did and the class opened last evening with 30 pupils. The class in electricity also had 30 pupils on opening night.

While of course all who will attend the evening sessions did not put in an appearance last evening the registration for the evening classes of the industrial school reaches the surprisingly large number of 1500, a majority of whom are young women, and Principal Dooley has rearranged the classes so as to avoid an overflow. The classes of the regular courses are held in the morning and then there are afternoon and evening classes. It has been found that a number who intended to attend the evening classes can attend those of the afternoon and at the request of the school authorities have agreed to do so, thus relieving the crush at the evening classes. Then again in the dressmaking department, for instance, pupils will receive sufficient instructions and home work in one night to keep them busy at home for a week and hence different pupils will be instructed on different nights. This scheme will be applied to other classes as well as the dressmaking. Last night was devoted to the classification of the various grades and branches of the work and will be continued through the week. By next Monday everything will be in running order and then Principal Dooley will be able to give authentic figures as to the size of the school.

Supt. Whitcomb Teaches Hebrews
Supt. Whitcomb had his first experience as a teacher of Hebrew pupils at the Howard st. evening school, which reopened last evening after a shutdown of a few years. Some ten years back the Hebrew residents of the city petitioned the school board to open an evening school in Howard street for Hebrews exclusively. This was done, but after a few years the attendances fell down and the idea was abandoned. This year a similar request was made and the school was opened last night. Supt. Whitcomb visited this new school intending to go later to some of the others. When he arrived there, however, he found one teacher trying to look after 28 pupils of all ages and ages. The superintendent got busy at once and taking 14 of the older pupils started in to teach them English. Among the 14 not one spoke a word of English and the superintendent was just as strong on Hebrew but he started by naming the different objects in the room on the blackboard and becoming interested in the work remained there until the close of the session. "They did me the honor of asking me to teach them all season," said Superintendent Whitcomb. In this class all were men, nearly all in the vicinity of 40 years of age while one man was 60 years of age.

Evening High School
Principal Robbins was much pleased last evening at the first night's attendance, the figures of which were given above. More than 150 others not already registered applied last evening but as the evening was devoted to the classification of the grades the new applicants were told to come again on Wednesday evening when the final registration will take place.

last year, others show a gain so that the total attendance in all probability will average up to last year, it not above last year's figures. The Old Moody school opened with 93 pupils last evening against 77 for the first week last year. The Greek girls' department in the Green school showed 53 pupils against 51 last year. The Colburn registered 150 last evening against 138 last year. The Edison showed a gain of 15 pupils with a total of 144. The Green had 120 last year and only 88 last evening. The Greenhale opened with 88 pupils, while last year the number was 85. This year sees one room in the Greenhale school devoted entirely to Poles. Last year the school was attended by French pupils exclusively, but the Poles have increased greatly in the vicinity of lower Lafayette avenue, and there was enough of them present last evening to fill a room. The Mann school, whose pupils are Greek men exclusively, opened with 282 against 285 last year. The Worthen street had 68 against 57 last year. The biggest gain perhaps was at the Cabot street school which is to take the place of the old Cheever street building which was used for many years as an evening school. Last year the Cheever street had only 32 pupils during opening week while last night 100 were in attendance. Up to this writing no reports had been heard from the Butler, Riverside, Franklin or Middlesex village schools, though in all probability these will be up to the average.

SEARCH FOR NEGRO Who Attacked a High School Girl

COATESVILLE, Pa., Oct. 10.—An all-night search in the woods and farms of this vicinity failed to reveal any trace of the negro who yesterday attempted an assault on Annie McElhaney, 15 years old, while she was on her way from the Coatesville high school to her father's farm. Coatesville was much wrought up over the affair last night.

The town today is in a calmer mood and the state police and the Coatesville authorities have taken charge of the search. There is no danger of a repetition of the scene of Aug. 13 when Zack Walker was burned to death for the killing of a policeman. The condition of the girl, who is suffering from the shock of the attack, was improved today and she was able to give the authorities further details of the attempted assault. She was on a road leading from Calm to Mortonsville when the negro came upon her. She fought him as best she could but was being overpowered when a one-horse buggy came into view. The negro had torn half the clothes of the girl by this time, but when the carriage approached he threw his intended victim to the ground, jumped a fence and fled across the field.

THE GLOVER CASE
Lawyer is Allowed Fees
of $7112

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 10.—For his legal labors during the past two years in defense of the will of Clarence Glover and as counsel for Glover's widow, Samuel D. Elmore, a Boston lawyer, was allowed $7,112 in the probate court today, to be paid out of the estate. Mr. Elmore has already received $3,000 and of the balance he is ordered to pay an equal amount to other lawyers involved in the case and to cover incidental expenses, so that his net receipts will be $4,112. Mr. Elmore asked for $11,318 at a hearing in the probate court two weeks ago. The allowance very nearly terminates the litigation in the probate and criminal courts arising over the murder of Glover in his laundry on Nov. 20, 1909.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

TO BE EXPECTED.
"Isn't he prematurely bald?"
"Not for a married man."

AN EXCEPTION.
The Modiste—it's all down on my books, and flairs don't lie.
Mr. Rooks—The things you've done to my wife's figure have made it very deceiving.

A NOM DE PLUME.
Number 41-1 see you're down on da prison books as Peter Dippe. Is dat your real name?
Number 41-2—No. Dat's only me pen name.

AT THE MARINERS' REST.
Green Clerk—What business are you in, sir?
New Guest—I'm a skipper.
Green Clerk—Well, don't practice your profession here till you settle your bill.

HUBBY KNEW WIPPER.
"The mistress says she will be ready in five minutes."
"All right! I'm going to lie down for a while. Cull me in an hour and a half."

BETTER MAKE IT SURE.
Mr. Aligood—Happy I'd be to be loved just in return for my own love.
Miss Searns—Don't be a piker, Chih! by offering adulterous inducements.

Don't Be Deceived

If you have tried other papers of doubtful circulation and failed to get results, that is no reason why you should condemn all newspapers. There are some honest newspapers with actual bona fide circulations. THE SUN, for instance, now prints over 16,000 copies daily. Is it any wonder SUN advertisers get quick results?

LEGAL NOTICES

Under authority of section 13, Chapter 244 of the Acts of 1903, I, George Chubb, of Lowell, Mass., do hereby give notice that I have made written application to the Lowell Institution for the purpose of having the County Jail deposit book of A. O. Smith & Co., dated in my name and dated 1904, standing in my name and dated 1904, deposited book in order of destruction. Witness my hand and seal this 10th day of October, 1911. GEORGE CHUBB, Lowell, Mass., Oct. 2, 1911.

Contract and Specifications for Constructing Pumping Station for the City of Lowell, Massachusetts, Water Board.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS.
Sealed bids or proposals for the construction of a pumping station, as described in the Water Board and approved "Proposal for Constructing Pumping Station," will be received at the office of the Water Board, City Hall, Lowell, Mass., until 10 o'clock, A. M., of Wednesday, the 15th day of October, 1911, and at that time and place will be publicly opened and read.

All bids must be made upon the blank form of proposal annexed hereto, and must be accompanied by a cash deposit of $1000, to be held as a guarantee for the faithful performance of the contract. The cash deposit must be in the form of a check payable to the order of the City of Lowell, and must be accompanied by a certified check drawn and made payable to the order of Andrew G. Miller, City Treasurer, for the amount of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), such check to be returned to the bidder unless forfeited under the conditions herein stipulated. This check should not be cashed in the sealed envelope, containing the bid, but should be delivered to the Chairman of the Board, who will give proper voucher for the deposit.

A bond in the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5000) with an approved surety company as surety for the faithful performance of the contract, must be furnished by the bidder, and must be accompanied by a certified check drawn and made payable to the order of Andrew G. Miller, City Treasurer, for the amount of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), such check to be returned to the bidder unless forfeited under the conditions herein stipulated. This check should not be cashed in the sealed envelope, containing the bid, but should be delivered to the Chairman of the Board, who will give proper voucher for the deposit.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to present forthwith to the Board the names of the parties to be offered and to execute and acknowledge the contract, and to sign and seal the same with satisfactory sureties within six days (not including Sundays) from the date of the mailing of a notice from the Board to the bidder, according to the address given by him, that the contract is ready for signature, and in case of failure to do so, will be considered as having abandoned the contract, and the cash deposit accompanying the proposal shall be forfeited to the City of Lowell.

Plans can be seen and specifications and forms of contract can be obtained at the office of the Water Board, City Hall, Lowell, Mass., or at the office of the Engineer, 1120 Tremont Building, Boston.

The Water Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to accept any bid should the Board deem it for the best interests of the City of Lowell so to do.

ROBERT V. VAN TASSEL,
Chairman Lowell Water Board,
Frank A. Barbour, Engineer.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—It was officially stated today that the first part of the Franco-German negotiations concerning the status of Morocco had been finished and the agreement was ready to be "initialed" by both parties as a sign of acceptance. The formal signing will be deferred until the second part of the arrangement regarding the compensation to Germany in French Congo has been completed.

Doctor's Prescription For Eczema

The most advanced physicians of this country and Europe are now prescribing a wash of wintergreen, glycerol and other soothing and healing ingredients for the cure of Eczema, Psoriasis and all other forms of skin trouble. This compound is known as the D. D. D. Prescription. Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as its quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years. We ourselves vouch for the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema and absolutely guarantee that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it."
